ALDERMEN MEET

President Blakemore Wants More Room In Nonantum Square

The regular meeting of the aldermen on Monday evening was uneventful, altho a large amount of business was transacted. For a wonder, there were no hearings assigned and so work was as soon as Vice President Pratt, in the absence of the president, called order.

Four traverse jurors were drawn by the Lowell term of the Superior court beginning next Monday and Henry Tole, Arthur C. Briggs and John J. Everson of Newtonville and as A. King, Jr. of West Newton were chosen.

Mayor Hatfield sent in an appointment of Henry H. Fanning as Registrar of Voters for three years and left Randlett as Forest Warden for a year, and they were laid over under the rules.

Petitions of Mrs. Jane E. Ward for common victualler license at 25 Lincoln street and L. de Russo for a table license on Auburn street were granted. Other petitions were received from Samuel Nejar for a common victualler license, 283 Centre St., Harry C. Barber for sewer in Gilbert street, James Ford for sewer in Commonwealth avenue, Ward 4, Angenette for Soldiers Relief, James McLaughlin for a minor's license, the B. & St. Rwy. Co. for attachments River street and Mague place, and Jim of William H. Condrin of $10.08.

On recommendations of committees, chain sewer assessments and changes were levied, claims of Paul Kampagne for $75 and William P. Assenden for $81 were settled, Soldiers' relief granted to Emma L. Moulton, $14,922.35 granted for certain city licenses and $3,225 granted for special city expenses, the Edison Co. a granted pole locations on Collins road, Orchard street, Melrose street, Oak road and Elm road, the Telephone Co. was granted underground adults on Washington park, attachments on Highland avenue, Grove street, Beacon street and permit to move poles on Walnut and Centre streets, licenses were granted to Philip Byfield as auctioneer, John P. Manari & Co., and to Janekas Bros. common victuallers, leave to withdraw was given Marcella Parilli for common victualler license and to Hyman Mellman for a junk license, the Geo Lowell Shops were granted permit to lay a heating conduit in Oak street, the Public Buildings commissioner was granted permission to sell second hand material, $11,465 was set for fire protection work at city of which $11,000 was to be raised serial bonds, leave to withdraw was sent on petitions for sewers in Essex road and in Forest avenue.

Hearings were ordered on March 17 laying out of Ionia street, hearings were ordered on April 7 for taking land for sewers in Pontiac road, Rokeby road, Carlton road, Mossfield road and Waban avenue, and sewers were ordered in Oakwood road and Chestnut street.

An order transferring $500 from Public Property to Schools for care of electrical apparatus in schools was recommended on request of Alderman Bemis. Orders appropriating $2,400 for erection of temporary public conveniences on the public playgrounds, widening Middlesex road at a cost of $500 and widening Hammond street at cost of $3,500 were referred to the Finance committee.

The report of the Public Franchise committee on the matter of stopping of express trains at Newtonville was explained by Alderman Jones who said that the railroad now stopped all but one New York train, and stopped five western trains and would make arrangements to stop five additional western trains. The company, however, refuses to allow travel to and from Boston on these express trains and local tickets would not hereafter be accepted on any one of these trains except the train to Boston leaving about midnight.

President Blakemore arrived late but did not take the chair. Instead he presented an order requesting the Public Works committee to consider the advisability of widening Nonantum square by making an arcade on the north side. Mr. Blakemore stated that tickets in this square were getting worse every day and the plans he submitted called for a 60 foot roadway from the square to the Watertown line.

Other places about us have made considerable progress in improving their civic centers, notably, Watertown and Wellesley, and Boston is now contemplating a widening of Harvard street at Allston. Walnut street is narrow and crooked and something should be done. It is possible to induce the land owners to give the land and make this a true thoroughfare. Mr. Blakemore believed that the board had not concerned itself enough in these matters of permanent improvements and we are fast approaching a time when it is our clear duty to make plans for the future. Alderman Bemis agreed with Mr. Blakemore and the order was adopted.

President Blakemore also called attention to the pending legislation to create the office of comptroller of accounts and said that as it was important that the board select the right man for this position, he suggested that a committee be appointed to consult of Aldermen Bemis, Barker and Jones, and the motion was adopted. The board adjourned at 8.50 P.M.

S. E. K. DANCE

One of the Notable Social Affairs of the Winter

It is doubtful if any more pronounced ball-room success is scored this season, than the dancing party given Saturday evening in Norumbega Hall, under the auspices of the S. E. K. Society, of Auburndale.

It was the last one, of a series of dances given by the Club, but stands first numerically as regards the enjoyment of the evening, the elegance of the costumes, and the general success of the whole affair, which was under the efficient management of Miss Mary E. Baker, to whose efforts its success was largely due.

The hall was filled with dancers from 9 o'clock when Miss Day, the president of the society led the grand march of 80 couples, greeted in passing, by the matrons, and until the well arranged order had been danced through, there was no intermission to the pleasure of the participants.

An innovation and surprise to those present, was the "Moon Dance," at pre-arranged signals, the lights were extinguished, and the moon appeared high up over the stage enabling the dancers to "trip the light fantastic" by the rays of the silvery moon. Later in the evening, the dance was repeated in response to a most enthusiastic encore.

The hall presented an unusually attractive picture, being decorated in a color-scheme of green and gold and lighted by green candles in brass holders with brass shades, and the dance-orders were of green and gold.

Half a hundred elegant costumes of different colors and fabrics worn by beautiful dancers, made up a scene to which neither brush nor pencil could do justice. The Club has more than its share of graceful dancers and Saturday evening was an occasion which they all improved, while the sterner sex was so well represented that its members had to be careful and not do the wall-flower act.

Lutz's Orchestra of Roxbury, was in attendance, and furnished a delightful program of music. During the intermissions to the dances, refreshments were served in Society Hall, which was also decorated in green and gold.

Everything combined to make the dance a success and Miss Baker may well be proud that the Club members enjoyed themselves so thoroughly under her direction, and it was the wish of all present that the success be repeated by the Club at no very distant date.

The matrons were Mrs. Baker, Miss Wightman and Mrs. Herron, the latter substituting for Mrs. Jacobs who was ill. Guests were present from Boston, Brookline, Cambridge, and the Newtons. Among the noticeably handsome women were the following: Miss Arnold, formerly of Auburndale, but now residing in Montclair, N. J., was gowned in pale blue crepe over blue charmeuse, demi-train, rhinestone trimmings and garniture. Miss Parks of Boston was most attractive in black charmeuse with jet and lace garniture and drapery, demi-train, and won much admiration for her graceful dancing. Miss Baker wore an imported gown of pale blue chiffon embroidered in pink clover with green foliage and mounted on blue messaline with pearl and crystal garniture. Miss Summer of Dorchester was in pink charmeuse with black lace demi-train. Miss Reid of Auburndale in white silk over-draped with pink-figured white crepe, demi-train and carried pink roses. Miss Havens of Newton Centre was charmingly gowned in green silk with black lace. Marabou, and Miss Havens of Somerville, was attired in a beautiful gown of pale yellow silk crepe.

Varieties of Sharks.

The many varieties of the shark are divided into the littoral, the pelagic and the bathybal, according as they are found near the shore, or in mid-ocean, or at great depths. Besides those mentioned there are the liver, the hound, the shovel-nose, the tiger, the hammer-heads the porbeagles, the fox or thresher, and the basking shark, sometimes, though wrongly, called the sunfish.

SNEAK THIEVES

Create Considerable Excitement in Nonantum Square

The storekeepers in Nonantum square were afforded a little excitement last Tuesday afternoon, when two young men, Henry Sharkey, alias Harry Elliot and James H. Lyons, alias John H. Merritt and alias J. H. Williams were arrested following a spirited chase, in which citizens, boys and automobiles took an active part. The former was placed under arrest by Patrolman John J. Davis, after he had jumped a distance of 15 feet from the top of the wall across from the Newton depot, landing on the railroad track in a dazed condition.

The men, both well dressed entered the store of the Manhattan Tailoring Company, Lyons asking the owner, Jacob Koffman to repair a small tear in the vest of his suit. While Koffman was completing the job, the other man remained in the front part of the store, and left with his partner with two rolls of suiting tucked under his coat. Koffman missed the goods shortly after the men had left the store and immediately started a search.

Koffman finally found both men on the second floor of the Stevens Building, both being engaged in placing the goods in a suit case. Both men came down stairs, with Koffman closely on their heels, and a friend of Koffman was detailed by him to keep his eyes on Sharkey, while he held the older of the two until the police were summoned.

Sharkey managed to pull himself out of his coat, and threw it into the face of the man, and started on a mad dash down Centre to Pearl and over Bacon street to Washington street. He ran in back of Briggs' paint shop, climbed the fence, and jumped from the stone wall to the tracks below. The jump evidently knocked his wind out, and the cries which summoned Patrolman Davis, made it an easy task to place him under arrest.

Lyons was detained in front of Mars' drug store by Mr. Koffman until Patrolman Richard B. Conroy arrived and escorted him to Station 3. Both men refused to give out any information during the night and following day, but their finger prints which were taken by the local inspectors proved the means of identifying them.

Lyons has served 2 years, 4 months and had a fine of $10 imposed upon him in the Boston courts for shoplifting, while Sharkey has served a term in Concord reformatory and the House of Correction for larceny. In the Police Court yesterday morning the men were arraigned on two counts of larceny, that of stealing two rolls of cloth from the Manhattan Tailoring Company and a pair of women's shoes and two boxes of women's stockings from McManis' store on Washington street, and were sentenced to three months in the House of Correction by Judge Kennedy on each count. The men also took a pair of shoes from the store of Otis Brothers, and are wanted by the Watertown police for the larceny of five pairs of gloves from the store of the Carter Clothing Company, all of which occurred on the same day, which the other stores were entered.

DEATH OF JOHN F. PULLEN

John F. Pullen, a Confederate veteran and real estate man, passed away last week on Thursday at his late home 881 Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge, after a short illness with pneumonia.

Mr. Pullen was in his seventieth year and had resided in Newtonville for several years where he had won the esteem of a large circle of friends, and moved about four years ago to his present home in Cambridge. He was born in Virginia, and at the age of 16 enlisted in the 15th Virginia Cavalry and served throughout the war, after which he settled in Baltimore and entered the real estate field where he conducted a large business. After a period of thirty years he removed to Derry, N. H., and about eight years ago came to Newtonville, establishing an insurance office in Boston. The funeral took place on Saturday morning at the First Baptist Church in Cambridge, of which Mr. Pullen was an active member. Impressive services were conducted at 10.30 by the pastor, Rev. J. L. Campbell, assisted by Rev. Charles A. Fulton, pastor of the Dudley Street Baptist Church, who was a former pastor of the Baltimore Baptist Church, of which Mr. Pullen was a deacon during his residence in that city. "Lead Kindly Light" and other appropriate selections were rendered by Mr. Sweet, assisted by the choir. The survivors are a widow, Mrs. Harriet Warner Pullen, formerly of Derry, N. H., and four daughters, Mrs. James P. Richardson of Newtonville, Mrs. Edward F. MacMurphy of Chicago and Miss Miriam Pullen of Cambridge.

There were many beautiful floral tributes and the burial was in the family lot at Forest Hills Cemetery, Derry, N. H.

RETIREES FROM BUSINESS

Mr. Edgar T. Ward of West Newton Ends His Business Career

Mr. Edgar T. Ward of 102 Highland street, West Newton, a business man of Boston for the past 30 years, the last 13 of which he has been the head of the firm of Edgar T. Ward & Sons, a steel concern at 23 and 25 Purchase street, Boston, announces this week his retirement from business. The firm will be conducted by his two sons, John and Edgar Ward, under the name of Edgar T. Ward's Sons.

Mr. Ward is a native of England, being born in Sheffield. Then for five years he was a member of the firm of Ward & Nash. He entered the business from which he has retired 13 years ago.

Until Feb. 28 Mr. Ward was treasurer of the Union Twist Drill Company of Athol, manufacturers of drills and milling cutters, a concern capitalized at $4,500,000. This concern which was smaller was known as Gay & Ward, but as the business prospered it became the above concern. Mr. Ward resigned from this business at the same time he retired from his own firm.

Mr. Ward has a family consisting of eight children, five daughters and three sons, two of whom are connected with the firm, and the other, Astine, is employed by the Union Twist Drill Company.

MOUNT IDA SCHOOL

Last week Reverend Dr. W. H. Van Allen, rector of the Church of the Advent in Boston, conducted the regular chapel exercises at the school. Dr. Van Allen always interests young people in a special way, and his service of last week was no exception. He pointed out very clearly and forcibly what culture for young women today should stand for.

After the chapel exercises Dr. Van Allen gave the school a talk on English history, the topic being "King Henry VIII". Reverend Dr. Otis W. Foye, pastor of the Baptist Church in West Somerville, conducted the regular chapel exercises last Tuesday. Dr. Foye took for his text "The Meaning of Life." In his discourse he showed plainly that life has no real meaning unless there is purpose behind it.

Last Saturday night the Glee Club gave its regular annual recital. There were present very many guests of the school and the students. It was the unanimous opinion of all present that the concert was the best that the Glee Club has ever given in the history of the school.

N. H. S.

Friday afternoon the English Club gave a very interesting entertainment in the assembly hall of the Technical High School. "The Courtship of Miles Standish" was acted in pantomime by members of the club, and Mrs. M. A. Levy of Newton Centre read the story. The stage was fitted to represent Puritan scenes, and the costumes worn by the participants were very picturesque. The cast was as follows:

Indian Robert Van Kirk Messenger Ralph West
Elder Frederick Marks
Puritan Women Helen Eustis Madeline Abbott, Ruth Bosson.

FORMER RESIDENT DEAD

Mr. Austin T. Sylvester, for many years a former well known resident of Newtonville, died last Friday at his home in Winthrop.

Mr. Sylvester was formerly a prominent figure in the jewelry trade in Boston, having been associated with the firm of Henry T. Spear & Sons until his retirement from active business about 10 years ago.

He was born in Scituate Aug. 10, 1840, the son of Jotham T. and Mary (Totman) Sylvester. Coming to Boston as a young man he enlisted for service in the Civil War, joining the 40th New York Regiment, known as the Mozart, in which he served for four years, rising to the rank of commissary sergeant. He was in the battle of Gettysburg and other important engagements.

At the close of the war, Mr. Sylvester became associated with the firm of H. T. Spear & Sons, marrying Miss Emeline C. Spear, the daughter of his employer, about 45 years ago. For many years Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester lived in Newtonville, where the former was an active member of the Universalist Church and also connected with many philanthropic organizations.

He was a member of Charles Ward Post 62 of the G. A. R. He belonged to Old Suffolk Chapter, Sons of the American Revolution of Chelsea, and since 1870, when he joined the Odd Fellows, Mr. Sylvester was deeply interested in the work of that organization. He is survived by an adopted daughter, Miss Emma A. Sylvester, and by a sister, Mrs. George W. Curtis of Norwell.

Funeral services were held from his late residence on Marshall street, Winthrop, on Tuesday afternoon.

The dining room was attractively decorated with carnations, flags, and banners, the Christian Endeavor colors, red and white, being prominent.

Rev. Harrie R. Chamberlin, president of the State Christian Endeavor Union, and Mrs. Chamberlin were present, also guests from Cambridge, Somerville, Jamaica Plain, Lynn, North Hanover, Fall River, Waltham and North Scituate.

SEEMED A CROWD TO HIM

Inebriated Gentleman Evidently Was Not Viewing Things with an Eye That Was Normal.

Big Bill Roberts, who holds the traffic post at the corner of Dey and Broadway, saw a taxicab approaching the other day, says the New York correspondent of the Cincinnati Times-Star. Inside were two men, quarreling violently. As the cab came to a halt, in obedience to Big William's semaphoring, Mr. Roberts observed that both gentlemen were perceptibly puffed. They looked and acted as if they had been running the Demon Rum into holes for a couple of days and then prodding him out again. "Hey," said Policeman Roberts, "what's the matter here?"

The largest of the two gentlemen still preserved his dignity. "Nossin's marrer, offsher," he explained, laboriously. "On'y zish cab's too crowded. Some of us gorter get out."

Policeman Roberts thrust his head through the open window and looked them over. Then he expressed his surprise. "Why," said he, "there are only two of you in there."

The dignified gentleman looked at him fixedly for a moment. Then he, with some difficulty, withdrew his glazed gaze from the officer's eye and carefully looked about the interior of the cab. "Jah zha right, offsher?" he asked, plaintively.

Policeman Roberts assured him on the sacred honor of one of Commissioner Waldo's most fixed posts that he had told the truth. "On'y two of us here, huh?" said the dignified person. "Well, zen, the driver can drive on. But it looks like more."

SUBJECT KING VISITS PARIS

Bey of Tunis, Conquered by France, Said to Be an Enlightened and Educated Man.

An interesting guest of the French nation during the festivities on the national holiday was Sidi Mohammed an Naceur, the Bey of Tunis, who then returned the visit made to Tunis last year by President Fallieres.

When France, after a short campaign, took possession in 1881 of Tunis, the present Bey succeeded his cousin, Sidi Mohammed el Hadi. But the French did not follow in this colony their policy of Algeria; they left the Bey the empty honor of royalty.

As a matter of fact, as the head of the royal family and the local head of the church, his power is great, although outwardly he is a subject of the French conquerors.

He has accepted the role of vassal sovereign and Tunis is almost as peaceful as any French province, largely due to his influence. He is an accomplished scholar, has written books in French and encourages the education of his countrymen.

Possibly he realizes that if he took a different course he might not long be able to enjoy the palace that is one of the show sights of the suburbs of Tunis.

Had Terrible Experience.

While his two little children watched at his side, a resident of San Jose, Cal., named Gothberg, lost consciousness and tumbled for nearly four days not long since in delirium, in the canyon of the Saratoga creek near Congress Springs. During all this time the children were almost without food and with but little to shelter them from the weather. The man left San Jose to visit a friend on a ranch near Castle Rock on the summit above Saratoga. He had gone as far as Saratoga when he became ill, but managed to get some distance up the road towards Congress Springs before he was overcome and had to stop. The father fell asleep and raved in delirium. Faithful to their father, the children stayed by his side during three days and three nights with only some canned meat to eat. For a shelter they stretched two blankets over the top of the fence and huddled under this poor protection. The party when found, were taken to the county hospital, where Gothberg did not regain consciousness for some time.

Anybody Want a Diplodocus?

Andrew Carnegie has a corner in diplodocuses. He owns the bones of nearly all of those saurians of the carboniferous age that still remain over from that period in the dim past; and he is presenting them to various governments as tokens of esteem and of the friendship of the United States. A restored diplodocus sixty feet long has just been sent by his direction to the Argentine republic, with which our relations have always been most friendly. As peace offerings, however, these petrified skeletons have not at all ways had the desired effect. The German kaiser received one a year or two ago, which was even bigger than the Argentine specimen—and soon after the trouble over the potash question began.

Forgotten Which?

They were mother and daughter traveling on the hazy ocean. It was a cheap trip from Folkestone to Boulogne, and the sea was very rough. Suddenly the daughter exclaimed: "Oh, mamma, it's coming on again worse than ever!"

"But, why, May," asked her mother "did you not follow out the directions about which your father told you before you came on board?"

"Because," answered the daughter in a faint voice, "I've forgotten whether I ought to breathe in as the vessel rises, and let the breath go out as it moves downward, or whether it ought to be the other way. And, oh—oh—oh, I wish I were dead!"—London Tit Bits

FORCED TO LIVE THINGS UP

Just an Example of What the Resourceful Hostess Will Do When a Party Drags.

Miss Charlotte Van Cortlandt Nicoll recently gave in the surf off Long Branch a bathing tea party, a man servant wading out with a boat-shaped floating tea table perfectly appointed, wherefrom Miss Nicoll and her friends, in five feet of water, partook of buttered toast, caravan tea, muffins, scones and cakes.

Congratulated upon this novel party, Miss Nicoll, who is a sister of De Lancy Nicoll, smiled and said: "I believe in the hostess who is resourceful—the hostess of Mrs. Blane's type."

"Mrs. Blane was giving a tea party on her yacht. The affair, for some reason, was dragging dreadfully. The guests talked of nothing but the weather, and even in this talk there would come long, deadly silences."

"Suddenly Mrs. Blane, losing her balance, fell heavily against her mother-in-law, who sat beside the low rail, and with a moaning cry the dear old lady went headforemost overboard."

"Of course, she was rescued; but afterwards Mr. Blane took Mrs. Blane privately to task."

"How clumsy you were," he said, "to knock mother into the water like that. I'm afraid she won't care to visit us again in a hurry. You really should be more careful."

"Now, George," said Mrs. Blane, "be reasonable. I had to do something. I simply had to. Didn't you see how our party was dragging?"—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

MAN OF SAVING DISPOSITION

Wives Will Know How to Sympathize With the Unfortunate Better Half of Mr. Graball.

Old Graball is mean—really mean. He once built a house, and nearly gave himself brain fever deciding which was better—a lot of windows—which were cheaper, but needed soap and water for cleaning—or more bricks for wall space.

One day he came home and found that his wife had saved money out of his housekeeping allowance, and was repapering the dining-room. And then he started to rave.

"I don't object to the money being spent, although new paper is just extravagance when the old one has only been on seven years," he gasped, red and hoarse with rage, "but I do object to the way you have put it on. Oh, how dare you waste it on!" he finished, with a wall.

"How else could I put it on?" asked Mrs. Graball, in surprise.

"How else?" he retorted when he could speak. "Why, tack it on, of course! You don't suppose we shall live in this house for ever, do you?"

Habits of the Democracy.

Arthur I. Vorys, a regular and optimistic Republican, was voicing his opinion that in the next election the Democrats would repeat their many former experiences and bury their hopes at the polls. It reminded him of the experience of the middle-aged woman who went into a shop, and, without hesitation, made straight for the crape counter. The girl who handled this funeral material was extremely affable.

"We have a large stock of crapes," she explained. "Let me show you some new French goods, very popular at this time for every kind of mourning, and designed to express every degree of grief. If you will tell me for whom you are in mourning, I can fix you out in exactly the right thing."

"Husband," replied the customer briefly.

"In that case," said the girl, graciously, "I can tell you just what—"

"Young lady," interrupted the older woman angrily. "You needn't bother yourself. This is the fourth husband I've buried, and I know all about it!"—The Popular Magazine.

When the Small Boy Talks.

One day recently a coterie of young women in West Philadelphia contemplated plans for a moonlight excursion on the river, and when the evening of the trip arrived it was noticed that one of the most charming members of the party wore a shawl about her shoulders. One of her companions wondered at this and to her query as to whether the wearer was afraid of being cold received a negative reply. Another suggested that possibly she had malaria. This was also emphatically denied. At this juncture the irrepressible small brother of the shawl-wearing young woman volunteered to explain matters, and despite his sister's vehement command to keep silent, said: "The reason she wears that shawl is so that when she is on the boat she can put her arm under it and hug her, and she thinks nobody can see through the game."

Incident of the "War."

During General Blinney's raid through Florida, a bright little girl was found alone at one house, her parents having escaped. She did not know whether the troops were union or rebel. Two fine dogs made their appearance while a conversation was being held with the child, and she informed one of her questioners that their names were Gillmore and Feargusard. "Which is the best dog?" asked a bystander. "I don't know," said she; "they're both mighty smart dogs; but they'll either of 'em suck eggs if you don't watch 'em." The troops left without ascertaining whether the family of which the girl was so hopeful a scion was union or rebel.

SCIENCE RECORDS A TRIUMPH

After Research It Has Been Ascertained Just Why the Hungry Man Tightens His Belt.

Remembering the habit of tramps to tighten their belts when hungry, Prof. Dr. Rudolf Lennhoff decided to investigate the efficiency of this simple remedy in actually suppressing hunger. Assisted by physicians he made use of the property of the X-rays of being arrested by metals and their salts. Persons were given drinks which contained in suspension salts of bismuth or litigated iodestone, or they were required to eat solid food, such as mashed potatoes, which had previously been mixed with metallic salts.

Dr. Lennhoff reports to the Vossische Zeitung the following results: In the case of solid food, a contraction of the stomach could be observed, and a relatively small quantity proved to be sufficient to satisfy the appetite. When liquid food was given in the ordinary way—i. e., by swallowing—the contraction was considerably less, and a larger quantity was necessary for satiation.

In a third experiment the liquid was introduced into the stomach through a tube; in this case twice the quantity of liquid was required.

These experiments showed that the mechanical stimulus of swallowing by reflex action causes a contraction of the stomach, thus accelerating the process of digestion. This is accomplished by artificially increasing the pressure on the stomach, a smaller quantity of food. The trick of the hungry tramp was therefore resorted to, and a belt was applied tightly around the waist of the eater. The result was as anticipated.

OWNED HISTORIC OLD HOTEL

Proprietor of Structure Built Around Cabin of Captured British Frigate Is Dead.

Jacob Smith, hotel proprietor of City Island, New York, died there at the age of seventy-three years. Mr. Smith's hotel has for years been one of the show places on the island. It was known as the Macedonian hotel, because it was built around the cabin of the British frigate Macedonia, which was captured by the United States frigate Decatur off Cape Verde islands during the war of 1812. After the engagement the Macedonia was towed to what is known as Cow Bay, City Island, and there Smith acquired it in 1874, pulled it on land and structurally added to it. In time he had a building large enough to accommodate a number of persons.

Three years ago a member of a historical society in England, which had learned of the existence of the Macedonia, came to City Island and offered Mr. Smith $30,000 for it, but he would not sell. He said he wanted it to remain in the family, which consists of seven daughters and two sons.

Fortunate Little Waif.

A romantic history attaches to a pretty little foundling at present being cared for in the West Ham and Eastern General hospital, London, England. A Stratford resident going home late one recent night heard a cry, the wail of a newly born child. He jumped over into a field situated in Knox road, struck a match, and discovered a bonny baby boy. The man carried the child to the police, who in turn took it to the West Ham hospital. "We could not think of sending him to the workhouse," the kindly ward sister stated, "and he is now the little 'duke of the ward.' He is daily gaining strength to fight the world, and we should like to find a good home for baby very soon. We called him 'Peter' to bring the little fellow good luck, and the cabbage patch is where he was found." This little foundling, who is quite alone in the world, has big blue eyes and pretty fair hair. He sleeps all day in a cozy hammock cradle in one of the children's wards, and is beloved by nurses and patients alike.

Colors of Sea Water.

It has been proved that the blueness of sea water is in constant ratio to its saltness. In the tropics the tremendous evaporation induced by the blazing sun causes the water to be much more salt than it is in higher latitudes.

For about 30 degrees both north and south of the equator the waters of the world's oceans are of an exquisite azure. Beyond these latitudes the blue fades and changes to green, and in the Arctic and Antarctic oceans the greens are almost as vivid as the tropical blues.

China's Yellow sea is usually supposed to owe its origin to the flood of muddy water which its great rivers pour into it. But here, again, modern science has proved that living organisms are responsible for its peculiar tint.

A Tangle.

A case of singular corruption on the part of an attorney caused Miss Jane Adams, the Chicago welfare worker, to say at Hull House:

"This case reminds me of a man who was being tried for the theft of a ham. The opposing lawyers shuffled so, they confused the witnesses so they so strained their own state ments—in a word, they got the case into such a formidable tangle of falsehood and mendacity that at last the prisoner, in a tremulous voice, spoke up and said:

"Judge, if you'll make them lawyers set down and shut up for a minute, I'm willing to whirl in and tell the truth."

DIVIDED INTO TWO CLASSES

Differing Processes of the Mind May Be Classified Either as the "Visual" or the "Auditive."

The great majority of people can be classified in one or other of two psychological types, corresponding to the great senses of sight and hearing.

These classes sometimes are called the "visuals" and the "auditives" respectively. The "visuals" or visualizers seem to conduct the majority of their mental processes by visual symbolism. They "think in pictures;" their mental method is graphic. The majority of women belong to this group, and, of course, the majority of painters, sculptors, architects, decorators, engineers and mechanically gifted people. Such people readily apprehend space relations, and can conceive new ones. If they possess this power in high degree they may paint fine pictures, build new types of architecture, conceive new machines.

The auditives, on the other hand, think more in sounds and words and not in pictures. They naturally include the musicians, the men of letters and the scientific and philosophic among men than among women. They notice things around them less, and are more commonly credited with being "absent-minded."

If great development of either is rare, vastly rarer is great development of both in one and the same individual. Such individuals stand out as the few supreme examples of what we call versatility, and of these the most notable representative in the history of the world is Leonardo da Vinci.

SOME REALLY GRAND OLD MEN

Historical Records of Longevity That by Rights Should Be Accompanied by an Affidavit.

The Mexican who has just died at the alleged age of 185 has been predeceased (according to American news) during the past dozen years or so by a citizen of New Brunswick aged 122, and a comparative youngster of Valley Mills, Tex., whose age was only 115.

The man in the street will be pardoned for thinking that the 185 has been inadvertently transposed from a cricket report. Among ex-Biblical heroes probably Ald Parr and Henry Jenkins will stand as the best authenticated instances of superlongevity. The monument at Bolton, York shire, records that Jenkins attained "the amazing age of 169."

"A man 1x 86," observed Mr Dooley recently, "looks down on a man 1v 85, and receives his hollow opinions with a supercilious smile;" and for that reason probably (if not because he was a fisherman) Jenkins was able to give evidence on oath concerning matters 140 years or so previous. As a hale young centenarian he was in the habit of swimming the Swale "with ease," and as a boy he is said to have taken a horse-load of arrows to be forwarded north for the battle of Flodden.—London Mail.

Interesting Search.

William Dana Orcutt, whose new novel, "The Moth," has just been published by the Harpers, is noted for his extreme diligence in verifying all historical facts that appear in his novels. When writing one of his earlier novels, "The Spell," he made a special trip to Florence in order to verify certain allusions and locations. One of the first pilgrimages was to San Domenico to find the ancient inscription upon the wall, which Helen Armstrong points out to her husband in the first chapter. Says the author, "I had never been able to discover where I obtained this data, so was particularly anxious to verify it. One morning, accompanied by Mr. Orcutt, I set out on what seemed a hopeless quest. We located the old Etruscan wall, with its curious marks, but no legends. Finally we came to some flaring posters announcing an auction sale, and beneath these, when pulled aside, we found the Latin words, cut deep in the stone."

German's Slot Literature.

Penny in the slot literature is the latest thing in Germany. A firm of publishers at Leipzig has patented an automatic machine which gives a choice of a dozen small paper covered volumes which are displayed behind glass. On a strip of paper across each volume is printed a brief description of the book, and a coin in the slot does the rest. These automatic machines are to be placed in hotel lobbies, waiting rooms, theater foyers and other public places. The hope is expressed that as the books offered are carefully selected and by first-class authors the venture may have a beneficial educative effect upon the masses and thus counteract the influence of the cheap and trashy literature with which the country is flooded.—Exchange.

Fame.

Great minds had rather deserve contemporaneous applause, without obtaining it, than obtain without deserving it; if it follow them, it is well; but they will not deviate to follow it. With inferior minds the reverse is observable; so that they can command the flattery of knaves while living, they care not for the execrations of honest men when dead. Milton neither aspired to present fame, nor even expected it; but (to use his own words) his "high ambition was to leave something so written to after ages, that they should not willingly let it die." And Cato finely observed that he would much rather that posterity should inquire why no statues were erected to him, than why they were.

EDITORIAL

The campaign for the Republican nomination and for the subsequent election for a member of Congress in this district, will now begin in real earnest, as Governor Foss has called the election for April 15 for a successor for Senator Weeks. The Democrats are scheduled to select Mr. John J. Mitchell, their candidate of last November, and the Progressives intend to nominate Mr. Norman White of Brookline. On the Republican side, Mr. Alfred L. Cutting of Weston has a long lead for the nomination, altho he may be opposed by one or two others. Mr. Cutting has served two terms in the state Legislature and is well known politically in the Middlesex County end of the district, where he has done splendid work for the party for many years. He is by all means the best qualified of all the candidates, Republican, Democratic or Progressive for the office, and his nomination and election would be certain if every voter knew him personally. Newton in particular, ought to stand by Mr. Cutting, for in every respect he is the type of man, the voters of this community have always been ready to heartily endorse.

President Blakemore's suggestion that something should be done towards widening Nonantum Square will meet with enthusiastic approval of everyone cognizant with the situation.
It will be an expensive project, however, but no matter how costly, it should be done as soon as possible, for the expense will be greater the longer it is put off.

Walnut street, too, ought to have immediate consideration. Last year, the offer of the trustees of the Newton Cemetery to give the necessary land for widening a part of this street was turned down, altho the need of starting this improvement was clearly shown. The only way to get something done, is to begin, somewhere and somehow. To delay a beginning means that nothing will ever be accomplished.

The gratitude of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts ought to be expressed in some adequate fashion for the invaluable and effective service rendered the nation and the state by the retiring United States senator, Hon. W.
Murray Crane. During his service in the Senate Mr. Crane achieved for himself and his state, a position of great power and influence and he used that power and influence for the best interests of the whole country. These United States need men of Mr. Crane's character in public office and his retirement will be a distinct loss to the nation.

The business men of Newton (Corner) are taking a forward step in organizing for their mutual advancement and protection. Such organizations help immensely to improve civic conditions and the other communities in our city ought to consider the advisability of taking similar action.

The best wishes of this city will be extended to Senator John W. Weeks for a successful career in the United States Senate—a success measured by honor and character as well as by results.

Newton loses a member of the President's cabinet and a member of Congress and gains a United States senator by the political shift on March 4th.

It seems a great pity to expend over $11,000 on the Old City Hall. It ought to be used towards a new building.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The interesting and at the same time the most deplorable incident this morning at Beacon hill, was the investigation, or trial of Senator McDewitt of Quincy, for making a public statement that he had been offered a bribe by a member of the Legislature. If there is one thing above all others that the Great and General Court cherished to the highest degree, it is its honor, and any reflection on its fair name will be sure to receive careful attention. There is no politics, whatever, in the report just made by the Rules committee, completely exonerating Representative Buckley from the charge made by Mc-Dewitt, Democrats and Republicans alike, joining in the condemnation of the man who attempted for a few hours of cheap notoriety, to foul his own nest. The Senate can be dependent upon to take some action, express its disapproval of the acts of one of its own members, but whether it will go so far, as to expel Senator McDewitt is doubtful.

It is evident that even the voice of the people isn't believed on Beacon hill for the Legislature is now passing a bill to give the freemen in certain cities, one day off in five, after the people of those cities, had at the last election expressly refused to grant that favor. What is to become of the referendum, if the Legislature is so loose in taking the position, that if you care to vote in favor of this or that measure, you may do so, but if you don't vote that way, we shall make you take it anyway. Even the platform of our good friends, the Progressives, doesn't go as far as that—and this is a Republican Legislature at that.

The temperance people, who last week, created a sensation in walking out of the room of the committee on Liquor Law, as a protest against the attitude of the chairman, Senator McLane of Fall River, have again made the party leaders sit up and take notice by organizing public meetings in various parts of the Commonwealth, in order to create a public sentiment against the expected reports of the Liquor Law committee. The Republican party has too slight a hold on the populace to allow of such a move, and very far from its effect next November may be serious. It is hoped that some compromise can be made which will be fair to everyone.

In this connection I must again comment on the adverse report of the Committee on Constitutional Amendments on the woman's suffrage measure. The Republican party is bound, by its party platform to submit this measure to a popular vote, and every Republican member of the Legislature, regardless of his own personal opinion, ought to vote to carry out this pledge of the party. Here again, as a matter of political expedience, it would be most foolish to raise an issue next fall, which can and should be eliminated by passing this proposed amendment thru its first stage. Why play with political fire gentlemen, when the people demand and eventually will get an opportunity to vote on this question.

A hearing was held Wednesday on the bill to place street superintendents and city engineers under the civil service. This measure is advocated by the Massachusetts Highway Association and is in line with good public policy. These men, by their very positions, must make many enemies, and if their tenure of office depended upon political favor, would inevitably make their jobs a political football. This is exactly the case in many municipalities and furnished the reasons for asking for this legislation.

While no report has been made by the committee on Liquor Law, it is said that the committee will report favorably, 6 to 5, on the bill to make druggists license $500 instead of the present fee of $100. While this measure may keep a few druggists out of the liquor business, it seems to me that the druggist who pays this high fee, will feel perfectly free to sell as much liquor as he can, in order to get square with the license fee. As a temperance measure, its effect would probably be to increase the sale of liquor by druggists.

The bill to reimburse Newton part of the expense of the Independent Industrial school has been reported and carries the sum of $3,636.

ELLIOT BAPTIST SOCIETY

The Elliot Baptist Society will worship as usual in Odd Fellows' Hall, Newton Highlands, on Sunday, March Pa. Rev. Geo. T. Baker, will preach at both services.

On Sunday evening Mr. Baker will begin a series of discourses, the subjects of which will be taken from the life and ministry of Jesus. While each discourse will be separate and distinct in its teaching, an effort will be made to follow a chronological order, and it is hoped that at the conclusion of the series those who attend regularly will be possessed of a fairly comprehensive outline of Jesus' life and teaching.

Mr. Baker will speak Sunday evening on "Cleansing the Temple, or Jesus versus the Temple Trust."

Everyone invited.

COLONIAL THEATRE—All Boston remembers how a year ago, after five-teen weeks of capacity houses at the Colonial Theatre, Klaw & Erlanger's production of "The Pink Lady" was compelled to leave in order to prepare for the London engagement at the Globe Theatre which lasted for twenty triumphant weeks. Since then this most popular musical comedy of many years has been seen in the larger cities with the original cast, and everywhere the Boston triumph has been duplicated. Now these favorite players, who are so pleasantly remembered here, are coming back to the Colonial, Boston, to resume the interrupted run. The company still numbers nearly one hundred, the Pink of Perfection chorus is as charming as ever, and the production sparkling and span, with new costumes that were imported from Paris for this tour.
Bright, breezy fun and merry, melodious music—where could one find a better evening's entertainment? It is more enjoyable the second and third times than the first. That is why it is even popular this year more than last.

tion for Congress.

Newton H. S. Boys Carried Off Modest Laurels at Annual Schoolboy Meet.

Newton High School athletes turned in some highly creditable work at the Schoolboy Games in Mechanics' Hall, Boston, last Saturday afternoon, securing seventh place, an excellent attainment in view of the keen competition involved. Nathan distinguished himself when he finished second in the 600-yd run, and Hancock later tied up third place by live exertions in the mile run. The High School relay team easily triumphed over Brookline High's team; Van Buskirk, Ellison, Litchfield and Wilbur kept their feet churning in unison with the encouraging yells of local rooters.
Stanley had to be satisfied with second place in the trial heats for the 40-yd dash, thus being barred from the semifinals, where he certainly would have given a good account of himself.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Miss Grace M. Burt, Editor.

With the first week of March already passed the club workers begin to look forward to the end of the year. The appointment of nominating committees and of program committees for next year makes the time seem very near indeed. Some officers are looking forward to it as one of relief from strenuous duty and of freedom for doing some of the things, which have been long neglected, while to others it will mean merely a temporary respite with opportunity for further and more successful endeavor. Whichever it may be, permanent or temporary relief, the officers must feel that the time has been well spent and must look back upon the year with satisfaction. The programs of the Newton clubs for this year have been fully up to, if not surpassing, the standard of other years. More and more the clubs are arranging continuous lines of study of subjects that are worth while. There has been a marked gain in this during the past year. In planning programs there must of necessity be some meetings that are intended merely to entertain, for a bit of fun now and then is relished by the best of men. It is gratifying, however, to notice the predominance of something more substantial upon the club programs this year.

Home Economics Conference

By invitation of the Waltham Woman's Club the Home Economics department of the State Federation will hold a conference in the Universalist Church, Main street, Waltham, on Friday, March 14, at 2.30 o'clock. Frederic W. Howe will speak on "Food Economics" and Mrs. E. C. Wikom on "Household Textiles." Brief reports from Home Economics chairmen and discussion will follow. Social hour with the hostess club. All club women interested are cordially invited to attend. Admission by card with name of club. Newton cars pass the church.

Green, and Mrs. A. H. Armstrong.

Local Happenings

At the meeting of the Merian Club on Feb. 27, Mrs. Easterbrook was the hostess. Mrs. H. E. Locke presented a paper on "The Religion of Ireland," which was followed by discussion.

Professor George P. Baker of Harvard spoke at the meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club on Thursday afternoon, Feb. 27. His subject was "The Novel and the Play." The speaker emphasized the wide difference in the task of the novelist and the dramatist, the first has the great advantage of description, history and analysis to entertain his readers, although lacking the visible presentation of characters. The dramatist's great difficulty is lack of time. The novelist is the impressionistic artist, while the dramatist, like the old Dutch painters, must use the right colors from the start. The art of the dramatist stands out distinct from that of the writer, and of necessity must be governed by its own laws and regulations.

A very delightful evening was spent in the Congregational Chapel on Feb. 27 by the Auburndale Review Club and its guests, about 150 being present to listen to a paper most ably presented by Mrs. D. E. Baker of Newtonville on "Old Time Music." The songs of the Revolutionary period were illustrated by Mrs. G. R. Pulsifer, Miss Van Wagenen, Mr. Wood, and Mr. Waldo Cole, Mrs. Baker accompanying them on the piano. The singing was delightful to all those present and the paper gave many interesting facts concerning our early composers of sacred and secular music.

Mrs. Knowlton and Mrs. Wells, president and vice-president of the Review Club, introduced the members, and the guests of the evening to the ladies who had so kindly entertained them. Mrs. Peloubet and Mrs. Miller, former presidents, presided over the tables, at which refreshments were served by the sons and daughters of the members. The evening was one of the most delightful of the Review Club's festivities.

The regular meeting of the West Newton Women's Educational Club took place on Friday, Feb. 28, with Mrs. Everett Jones in the chair. After a short business meeting Mrs. John R. McLean took charge of the program, which was divided into two parts. The first was devoted to an eloquent and patriotic address on "The Genesis of the Flag" by Mrs. Ida Louise Gibbs of Waltham, assisted by Mrs. Alice Barton Willard, vocalist, and Miss Hull, accompanist. The second part consisted of a discussion of Mrs. Russell Codman's "Arden American" under the leadership of Mrs. George D. Byfield, who gave a review of the book in brief. Salient points of the story were ably discussed by Mrs. Henry Chamberlain and Mrs. Samuel L. Eaton. At the close the members adjourned to the tea room, which was appropriately decorated in the patriotic colors, the scheme being carried out most artistically in the table decorations. Mrs. William Rice, chairman of the Hospitality committee, was in charge, and was assisted by Mrs. Sidney Sargent and Mrs. Luther Woodward.

Mrs. Sidney Sargent entertained the Travel Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club at its meeting on Feb. 28. "Patagonia and its Indians" was presented by Mrs. George D. Byfield. Miss Lillian Ruddle treated Quito, its social and climatic conditions, Mrs. Charles Quinn and Mrs. George St. Amant gave a review of the agricultural and commercial features of Colombia and of Venezuela. Mrs. Bernard Early presented a paper on "The Early History of the Incas." Refreshments and a social hour followed.

At the meeting on March 6, Mrs. Harry S. Wells of Parsons street was hostess and the subject was "The Incas." Miss Lillian Ruddle will entertain the class on March 20, at 2 P. M.

At the meeting of the Newton Mothers' Club held at the home of Mrs. Irving J. Fisher on Chestnut street, West Newton, on March 3, Rev. J. Edgar Park lectured on "The Philosophy of Bernard Shaw."

The Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. was entertained by Miss Cora Cobb on Monday afternoon with Mrs. L. S. Drake in the chair. The study of Keats was continued by Mrs. Darius Cobb. Mrs. Cobb reviewed the life of the poet and supplemented it with an account of some of his contemporaries. The rest of the time was devoted to the reading of several of Keats' shorter poems. The afternoon closed with a duet by Mrs. William T. Logan and Mr. Darius Cobb, "I wandered by the Brookside," the words being by Keats.

The annual musicale of the Newtonville Woman's Guild was held on Tuesday afternoon and was in charge of Mrs. Richard Loring, chairman of the Music committee. A Beethoven program was given by the following artists: Dr. Thomas I. Deacon, tenor; Miss Adeline Packard, violin; Miss Lillian Haywood, cello; Miss Ethel Harding, piano; and Mrs. A. L. Wakefield, accompanist. There were three instrumental trios, two groups of songs by Dr. Deacon and one group of piano selections. At the close tea was served by the Hospital committee.

The monthly business meeting of the Social Science Club was held on Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. L. S. Drake in the chair. After the routine business reports of various meetings were presented. The annual meeting of the Massachusetts Consumers' League was given by Mrs. Vernon B. Sweet, the Legislative Conference of the State Federation, Mrs. L. D. Gibbs, Mrs. F. H. Tucker and Mrs. E. M. Moore presented the Mid-Winter meeting of the State Federation, and Miss Grace M. Burt, the meeting of the Newton Federation. Following these Miss Ethel Gilman, chairman of the Social Service committee, presented Mrs. Charles D. Kepner, who told of the work of the Women's Auxiliary to the Newton Y. M. C. A. Mrs. Kepner first outlined the Y. M. C. A. work in foreign countries, touching especially upon that in India, China, and Korea. She then turned to Newton. She spoke of the increased usefulness of the Association since the erection of the new building. The boys belonging represent eleven different denominations, they come from six wards of the city and from seven of the surrounding towns. The Auxiliary furnished several of the rooms in the new building. It pays $300 towards the salary of the boys' secretary, supplies the supper on Friday nights for the Bible classes and contributes towards the expense of the lunches on Saturday for the Junior Bible classes, and assists in many small ways. Twenty per cent of the $1.00 membership fee goes toward the support of county work among boys in Massachusetts and Rhode Island. She urged the women of Newton to join the Auxiliary and help on the social service work of this community. The building will be open on Saturday, March 29, when the Auxiliary will hold a sale and an opportunity for inspecting parts not usually open to visitors will be given.

The discussion after the paper brought out the fact that although the Woman's Auxiliary and the Boys' department are quite unsectarian the original charter still controls the Association. Yet have we not, as broad minded women, reached the time when we can put away sectarian differences, and what is vastly more important, work together for the welfare of our young people in Newton?

Presidents' Conference

On Tuesday afternoon, March 4, the Roxbury Club of Roxbury entertained the presidents of the federated clubs for their conference at the Emmanuel-Walnut Avenue Church. Mrs. George W. Perkins, president of the Roxbury Club, greeted the guests in the name of her club, to which Mrs. Henry Colledge Mulligan, president of the Federation, responded and then took charge of the conference. Announcement was made of a conference on Mental Hygiene to be held in Boston the week of March 31st, of the Council Meeting of the General Federation at Washington the latter part of April and of the Home Economics Conference at Waltham on March 14. Mrs. Lillian Folger of Medford gave an account of the New England Conference, which has grown out of the meeting held in Boston three years ago, told of the meeting recently held in Portland and read the by-laws which were adopted at that time. Mrs. Emerson Crocker, chairman of Conservation in the General Federation and General Federation Secretary for Massachusetts, gave an account of her recent visit to clubs and Federations in Arizona, New Mexico, New Orleans and Panama and pointed out how much the club means to these far away women. She spoke of one woman, between 75 and 80 years old and a teacher in the Arizona schools for fifty years, who had attended the Biennial in San Francisco, and how this woman told her Federation that she had come home with new inspiration and was going to work as she had never worked before. Mrs. Crocker met another, who rides 30 miles on horseback every two weeks to attend her club meetings and still another woman, who brings her two little boys to the meetings rather than to stay at home. In New Mexico the women of Santa Fe have recently organized. In New Orleans a City Federation was formed in January. It includes both men's and women's organizations and embraces 130 different ones. In Panama she found the influence of the women's clubs had been great and said that the canal never would have been built had it not been for the clubs, which gave interest and occupation to the wives of the men employed, and thereby kept them both contented. The Canal Zone Federation is about to disband, since with the completion of the canal the population will be largely diminished. The latter part of her club afternoon was taken up with conference on matters related to club and Federation work. A member of the Bureau of Information read a set of by-laws prepared by that department for the guidance of clubs. Considerable discussion followed on the appointment of nominating committees, the payment of dues, and other matters of club administration. Mrs. Claire H. Gurney, clerk of the Federation, recited as a pleasant close to the meeting, verses which she had written for a meeting of her own club, entitled "The Potent Germ," the refrain being "The potent germ of divine discontent results in organization."

After a vote of thanks to the hostess the club the conference adjourned for a social hour, during which the delegates had a chance to meet the officers of the Federation and to enjoy the hospitality of the hostess.

B. F. KEITH THEATRE.—Who is the possessor of the best known face in the civilized world? This man is not a statesman, a great general, or a monarch, but John Bunny, the famous comedian, who has appeared as the central character in over 3,000,000 different pictures. The engagement of this famous comedian to appear at B.
F. Keith Theatre next week, is another brilliant stroke on the part of Mr. Keith. John Bunny will appear in a new and original monologue, written especially for him, besides introducing a special moving picture of himself taken for this engagement.
The wonderful Thomas A. Edison "Talking Motion Pictures," or Kinet-phone, will be continued for a third triumphant week, with all new subjects. Other attractions of a new brilliant bill will be the Australian Woodchoppers, champion woodmen of the world; Eddie Leonard, the famous minstrel man; Madge Maitland, the character comedienne; The Empire Comedy Four in songs and funmaking; A. O. Duncan, the premier ventriloquist; Redford and Winchester, juggling comedians, and other big attractions yet to be announced.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE.—When a new play meets with the instant and unanimous approval of Boston's cold and conservative critics, it ought to prove of sufficient interest to the theatregoing public to sit up and take notice. When Mr. Robert Lorraine made his reappearance at the Plymouth theatre, Boston, after a long absence, in "The Cradle Snatcher," a new comedy by Roi Cooper Megrue, he scored the biggest hit of his career. "The Cradle Snatcher" is founded from a short story by Gouverneur Morris and tells of the amazing experience of a young barrister who, to fulfill the requirements of a will has to find a suitable girl and marry her all within less than two weeks. One need go further to imagine the numerous phases of com-icalities that may arise from this somewhat embarrassing situation. In other words if you would enjoy a delightful evening, with a laugh every other second, don't fail to see this play. It is a worthy successor to "Disraeli."

ANNUAL LADIES' NIGHT

The annual Ladies' Night of the Men's League of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church last week Thursday proved most enjoyable. In spite of the inclement weather the attendance numbered nearly two hundred. The League had invited as its guests the members of the Monday Club, the West End Literary Club, the C. L. S. C., the Shakespeare Club and the Friday Afternoon Reading Club.

The president of the League, who is a member of the Ojibway tribe of Indians by adoption, presented Miss Bee Mayes, a talented Ojibway maiden, who entertained the company with stories and legends of her people, and songs and music that she had learned in her childhood. Miss Mayes, whose Indian name is "Laughing Cloud," appeared in costume and won the hearts of her audience by her native charm and piquant humor. Her songs in the rich, sibilant language of her tribe, and the quaint music which she played on the harp, symbolizing the rippling of the brook and the roar of the thunder, the talking of the birds and the call of the wolf and the coyote, never failed to win appreciative recognition from her listeners.

The entertainment by Miss Mayes was followed by an old-fashioned spelling-bee, in which the "boys" were led by "Charlie" Newhall and the "girls" by "Annie" Logan. Spelling Master Hagood was well versed in "advanced spelling," and the words he produced from a little book made sad the havoc among the scholars, the "boys" getting badly rattled, when the last "boy" stood alone, there were six or eight "girls" still up and although he stood his ground for a time, the odds were too much and the "girls" won out. Refreshments were then in order and the League proved itself a bountiful host.

BOSTON OPERA HOUSE.—But three weeks remain of the season at the Boston Opera House, as the last performance will be given on Saturday evening, Mar. 29. In order that the wind-up may come about in a blaze of glory, Director Russell has reserved some of his most attractive offerings for the final weeks. Following the remarkable success which "The Jewels of Madama" has attained, Mr. Russell will produce another of the Wolf-Ferrari operas on Friday evening next.
This time it will be "The Secret of Suzanne," a one act composition so replete with grace and melody that it has been likened to the music of Mozart, and higher praise there could not be. At its premiere "The Secret of Suzanne" will follow Louis Aubert and his "La Fete Bleue," in which Mmes. Mella, Amsten, Fisher, Swartz, Leveroni and De-Courcy and MM. De Potter, Riddle, Cilla and several others recreate Red Riding Hood, Hop o' My Thumb, the Sleeping Prince, Princess Charming, the dreadful Ogre and many of the figures taken from fairy lore. The second novelty of the week will be Saint-Saens' "Samson et Dalila," to be heard for the first time this year on Wednesday evening.
Giovanni Zenatello and Mme. Gray will again have the title parts. The dance music for this opera is particularly attractive and the full corps de ballet will appear.
On Monday night the last performance of "Aida" will take place, with Mmes.
Rossi and Gay and MM. Zenatello, Rossi and Mardones in the principal parts. For the Saturday matinee "Faust" should prove a most potent attraction, cast as it will be with Miss Nielsen as Marguerite Riccardio Martin as Faust and Andrea de Segurora as Mephistopheles. On Saturday evening this brilliant week will be brought to a close by the only appearance in Boston this season of Mme. Lina Cav-alleri, the famous Italian soprano, in the title role in "Carmen." At the Sunday afternoon concert, March 16, Rudolph Ganz, the famous Swiss pianist, will as soloist, assist the orchestra.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.—Not in the recent theatrical history of Boston has any play made such an emphatic hit as the William Elliott and David Belasco production of "The Governor's Lady" now in its second week at the Hollis Street Theatre, and where on account of previous bookings that cannot be cancelled, the play can remain but two weeks longer, its run coming to a close positively on March 22. "The Governor's Lady" tells a story of big human interest. One of the problems of American life today which has been demonstrated in and out of the courts for some years is that of the millionaire hungry for power and social recognition whose wife has been unable or unwilling to keep pace with him. Photographic in its wonderful detail, abounding in stirring experiences and presented with the remarkable realism for which Mr. Belasco is famous, "The Governor's Lady" has made a success that is not to be wondered at.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Mr. Alfred Booth of the State Committee spent Monday evening at the Association visiting Mr. Sayford's Bible Class and meeting with the Board of Directors at 8 o'clock. Mr.
Booth thinks the Newton equipment is second to none in the State and that the Board of Directors is very efficient in their work of planning for the interests of the members of the Association.

made for their benefit.

It has been a pleasure to have the new organization of business men meet at the Association Building. The Association is always glad to throw open the community.

LIFE AMONG THE BALKANS

The Women's Educational and Industrial Union is offering a unique entertainment and an excellent opportunity to gain an intimate knowledge of the people living today in the Balkan Mountains and in Greece, in a lecture to be given at Jordan Hall Monday evening, March 10, by Mr.
William Washburn Sleeper, formerly a resident of Bulgaria. There will be lantern illustrations from photographs taken by Miss E. J. Fitz, of Boston. Mrs. May Sleeper Ruggles of the Lederhelm School of Music, Auburndale, with her pupils, will sing Bulgarian songs. A group of Greek residents in the military costume of their country will appear in Greek songs and dances under the direction of Madame Seraphim Canoutas. Young people dressed in the costumes of the countries described will act as ushers under the direction of Mrs. John K.
Burgess, and during the intermission will serve Turkish sweets, and coffee prepared by Mrs. George H. Washburn, Miss Adeline Moffat, and other ladies.

BOSTON THEATRE.—The remarkably successful engagement of Robert Hichens and Mary Anderson Nav-arro's interesting play, "The Garden of Allah" is now entering upon its last two weeks at the Boston Theatre.
The engagement it is now definitely announced, ends Saturday, March 22nd. Beautiful and varied in their appeal to eye and ear are these scenes as they are unfolded in a procession that means something to the reader of the novel, and even more perhaps to the mere playgoer who seeks "The Garden of Allah" in the theatre without first having had resource to the scenery of Hichens' work. Natives from the Levant and from North Africa are employed unobtrusively but effectively to help in the achieving atmosphere and variesance in the crowded scenes, such as that depicting the street of Ouled Nails in Beni-Mora and "The Desert" at sunrise, where not only are the Bedouins employed, but numerous animals, including camels, horses, asses, goats and doves.

POP CONCERT

Gethsemane Commandery, K. T. Announce Last Entertainment of the Season

The last entertainment for this season given under the auspices of Gethsemane Commandery, Knight Templars, will be held on Wednesday evening, the 19th inst. at the Masonic Apartments in Newtonville. It will be a Pop Concert with whist and dancing. The committees having this series of entertainments in charge, report that this entertainment will outdo anything ever before attempted along this line, and it will be a fitting wind up of the three years' series.

Music by players from the Boston Symphony Orchestra will be one of the regular features, but on this particular occasion, music furnished by all present will not only be full of enjoyment for those who attend, but it will lend added interest to the evening. It has been reported that those who cannot sing will be furnished with proper implements to at least make a noise. From the present outlook, only the walls of the building limit the attendance, and these may go as the result of the exuberance of the evening.

CHRISTIAN FORUM

Dr. David Snedden Speaks On Educational Matters

The fifth meeting of the Christian Forum was held Sunday evening at Elliot Church and there was a good sized audience to hear Dr. David Snedden, Commissioner of Education for the Commonwealth, speak on "The Meaning of a Liberal Education." Dr. Snedden's address was largely technical, the lay listener gathering the impression that the present day vocational education was more or less antagonistic to the so called liberal or academic education, although the Commissioner believed that it would be possible in the future to co-ordinate the two forms more closely. Dr. Snedden was at his best in answering the questions which were sent up to the pulpit after the address and showed a most comprehensive knowledge of the educational problem.

Some of those questions were as follows:—

1. To prepare a young man for an executive post, would you choose a commercial high school or a classical high school followed by college?

2. Why not have the Bible read in the public schools? A book which our president, the rail-splitter, considered so important?

3. Is it true that 75 per cent of our pupils do not enter high schools to receive a liberal education?

4. In view of the great number of children who do not finish the preliminary course, should not the vocational training begin earlier in our public schools?

5. What course should you advise a boy to pursue just entering high school—a boy who is active physically but not especially fond of study?

6. Does the modern plan of education—spelling, arithmetic, etc., meet the needs of a pupil in after years?

7. How shall we overcome the disposition of a pupil to just "get by" and to make it uncomfortable for those who want to work?

8. Should not a vocational education begin in the grammar school? What does the decline in the study of Greek, for example, in our high schools mean to you?

9. When vocational schools absorb most of the pupil's time and energy is it possible to give them a liberal one carried forth under a wise and skillful teacher?

10. How far shall the state provide a free liberal and vocational education?

11. Is the attitude of the labor union toward vocational education in Massachusetts worth considering?

12. Is 11 years of age too young to enter high school?

13. What age should strictly vocational education be begun?

14. Is not a prescribed course which every student must follow to be preferred to giving a pupil a commercial training?

15. Should the main purpose of the high school be to prepare for college?

16. What methods have you to ascertain what vocation a child is fitted for?

17. Is the number of subjects given a pupil in danger of preventing him from thoroughly grasping one subject?

18. Do you consider the kindergarten important to the child?

19. Should not a vocational course be pursued after an academic course rather in place of it?

INDEFINITE SUPPLY OF FOOD

Philadelphia Chemists Claim to Have Made Discovery That Really Is Revolutionary.

Artificial production of food by merely chemical processes has always been a dream of the scientific man. A recent discovery brings this within the possibilities, provided the chemist is allowed an organic cell to start with. Prof. W. H. Lewis and his wife of Johns Hopkins are reported to have caused cellular substances to grow indefinitely outside of the organisms to which they originally belonged. Dr. Lewis now suggests that this may enable men to "grow meat" on a commercial scale. A commentator says: "What Dr. Lewis and his wife claim to have actually accomplished is this: They have taken pieces of chicken, placed them in a saline solution and grown chicken meat. They have discovered that it is quite possible to cut off some of this chicken meat without hindering further growth, and the process can be repeated indefinitely. They also claim that the process can be applied to any sort of flesh."

TSETSE FLY DEADLY ENEMY

Progress of South Africa Retarded While Its Propagation Is Being Combated.

How great a menace is the tsetse fly to the progress of certain regions of Africa is shown in the report of Sir William H. Manning, governor of Nyasaland. The prevalence of the fly has made it necessary to close many important roads against all forms of animal transport. One of the highways thus closed to animal-drawn vehicles is the road between Blantyre, the chief commercial center of the country, and Zomba, the administrative capital, but twenty-three miles of it, or more than half, has been macadamized, in order that motor vehicles can use it, and work on the remainder is going on rapidly. The ordinary roads of the country are impassable for ox wagons during the rainy season, which extends from November to May. For this reason a great increase of macadamized highways is desirable. Unless it is provided, the newly developed agricultural settlements of the protectorate will suffer greatly.

A 21-Pound Cabbage

That truck farming is far more profitable than cotton raising is the testimony of C. W. Buchanan, proprietor of a local hotel. In the rear of his hotel Mr. Buchanan has a four-acre farm which he cultivates as a side line. Last year he planted this ground in cotton, the proceeds of which scarcely equaled the cost of production. This year he planted the entire patch in corn, cabbage, turnips, onions and other truck products, as a result of which he is now getting big returns from his effort.

A few days ago Mr. Buchanan gathered from his little farm a cabbage that weighed 21½ pounds, the largest on record so far as is known locally. This monster cabbage has been on exhibition in one of the local business houses and has been the object of no little attention.—Jackson. Correspondence Atlanta Constitution.

Raising Babies by Electricity

Raising babies under the influence of electricity is the unique plan proposed by T. Thorne Baker, an electrical expert connected with the London Daily Mirror. Mr. Baker has made several successful experiments in raising chickens by such a process, and he believes the same principle can be applied to babies.

"No kind of food seems to do some weakly babies any good," says Mr. Baker. "I propose to use an electrically charged cot, in which the baby is put to sleep for about twenty minutes at a time."

Mr. Baker's intended experiment is to place babies near high frequency currents, which would be switched on while the child sleeps in a little bed placed inside a special coil. "The result," he said, "will be that while treatment is in progress the electro-magnetic vibrations will pass back and forth right through their bodies."

Society Girl a Poundkeeper

Acting Health Commissioner of Milwaukee Fred W. Luenig has announced the appointment of Miss Leonard H. Cawker, a wealthy woman of the city's most exclusive social set, as city poundkeeper, the appointment to be an emergency one for 90 days and subject to the rulings of the civil service board. Mr. Luenig, however, has received assurance that the appointment will be confirmed, there being no applicants for the position.

Miss Cawker has labored for many years in behalf of unfortunate animals that have come to her attention and has consented to take the position, although its acceptance means a large personal expense to her, the salary being only $50 a month.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Temperament and Temperance

"You don't avoid hot weather by going away from home."
"No," replied Miss Cayenne, "but it's better to be among strangers where the formalities prevent giving way to the irritations of climate."

PARK THEATRE—All hail Cohan and Harris! Abundant acclaim to Augustin MeLaugh! Here is a playwright who has put real fun in farce, real drama in melodrama and given the jaded playgoer "Officer 666," a novel, unique and original play of mystery, love and the law, that won the unqualified approval of the critics and the enthusiastic appreciation of the capacity audience that crowded the Park Theatre Monday night. I have seen farces galore that have provoked laughter enough and to spare, and have enjoyed "gentleman crook" plays since the days of "Raffles," but it was a masterstroke to unite laughs and thrills in one play, combined with consummate skill, thus accentuating the most striking features of farce and melodrama. The laughs follow each other as naturally as do the thrills. It is high art and good craftsmanship coupled with splendid acting that makes "Officer 666" irresistible in appeal. Don't miss it. Take your mother, sister, wife or best girl, and you'll have the time of your life as I did.

Marie Dascombe.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE—One of the biggest and most unique novelties of the season is promised for B. F. Keith's Theatre next week in William Burress' musical production, "The Song Birds." All of the oddities and characteristics of the great singers are burlesqued in the most amusing fashion. This feature will be but one of a great bill. The Thomas A. Edison Kinetophone will exhibit a brand new series of talking motion pictures, and another brilliant feature will be the Royal Kitamura Japanese Troupe of Oriental acrobats and wonder workers. The Bison City Four, the policeman, the dog, the bartender, and the tramp will blend a series of melodies musical numbers with a picture of daily life on the streets of New York, while Carl Henry and Nellie Francis, late stars at the head of their own company in the musical comedy field, will appear in their latest medley of foolishness and chatter. Jack Hazard, the former legitimate comedian, will bring a new monologue, Frances Stevens & Co. have a farce comedy entitled, "A Coventry Bride," and several other features yet to be announced are to be included on the bill.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE—The announcement that Mr. Lorraine's last week of his engagement at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston, would find him once again in his famous role of John Tanner in "Man and Superman" will prove a matter of interest and delight to theatregoers. The only regret of course, is the fact that Mr. Lorraine's appearance in Shaw's masterpiece is limited to one week only, hardly long enough to satisfy the enormous demands that are sure to be made to witness the play. The tremendous success achieved by Mr. Lorraine in this play, on his first appearance in Boston nearly seven years ago, needs no repetition. His brilliant characterization of a role, admirably suited for his remarkable versatility is still fresh in the minds of those who were fortunate to have witnessed the production. Mr. Lorraine's present revival will prove almost identical in every detail as when the play was first produced.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—On Monday, "Believe Me, Xantippe" begins its ninth week at the Castle Square. It is now in the final weeks of its long and successful run, and Tuesday evening will be a notable occasion, for then will be celebrated the 100th performance of this remarkable Harvard Prize Play. In every way, it has in it the elements of popularity, being filled with humor and involving its characters in a series of lively and complicated situations. Souvenirs will be distributed to the Tuesday evening's audience in commemoration of the 100th performance.

PLENTY OF MONEY IN ITALY

Burden of Financing the War With Turkey Has Not Been Appreciably Felt by the People.

An illustration of the hitherto unsuspected prosperity of Italy is the fact that she has not had to borrow a cent of foreign money for the expense of her war with Turkey. This war had cost Italy up to May 11 $47,850,000, or just $210,000 a day, since it began on September 27, 1911. Nevertheless, her 3 1/2 per cent government bonds are quoted in the markets of Europe between 97 and 98, varying of course, from day to day. Ronaldo Stringher, director general of the bank of Italy, has just made an official report stating that Italian emigrants send at least $90,000,000 a year back home, while tourists spend almost if not quite as much in Italy. Either one of these sources of wealth would more than suffice to pay the entire expenses of the war. Money is so abundant in Italy that when popular subscriptions were opened in many cities for military aeroplanes to be presented to the government, the lists were filled in a few days, the total amount of the subscriptions far exceeding those of a similar nature in France, in spite of the wave of popular enthusiasm for aeroplaning in that latter country. It is worthy of note that this war has cost Italy in human lives only 52 officers and 549 men, according to the official figures, an unprecedentedly small loss for eight months of active warfare.

IS MADE A DUMPING GROUND

Salvation Army the Not Altogether Willing Recipient of All Kinds of Spoiled Food.

If the pure food commissioners ever get after the Salvation Army's commissary department they will no doubt make an interesting raid.

"The stuff they would confiscate is not the output of our kitchens," said an army collector. "It is donated by people who have made a mess of what they tried to cook. This morning a woman telephoned that a ten-pound fruit cake and a jar of currant jelly had not turned out satisfactorily, and I could have them for the trouble of calling for them I went. The cake is pretty heavy and the jelly is not jelled, but I think the ingredients are pure, so we are going to distribute the stuff among our poor families. Unfortunately all donations are not so innocent. Bread and cake sold enough to sink a gunboat and chunks of meat so poorly cooked that not even a French chef could turn them into a savory stew are sent in by incompetent cooks. Where people ever got the notion that the Salvation Army is a dumping ground for undesirable eatables is a mystery. We certainly never asked for them."—New York Press

Marvelous Surgical Feat.

An ex soldier, named Blomquist, has just been pronounced cured, in Stockholm, Sweden, after one of the most remarkable operations on record. A year ago Blomquist was accidentally shot in the head during the maneuvers, and it was found that one half of the brain had been injured, and that the only chance of life for the patient lay in its removal. After much deliberation by the doctors the perilous operation was performed, with the marvelous result that within a few weeks Blomquist recovered. He was in full possession of all his faculties, but on being tested in the matter of reading and writing, he was found to have entirely forgotten the meaning of the alphabet and numerals. One of the doctors undertook to re-teach him all the forgotten lore, and after a very considerable time and much industry, Blomquist is again able to read and write. He has now left the nursing home, where he has been under the care of the doctors, and returned to work on his farm. He is robust in health and shows no trace physically or mentally of the extraordinary experience he has had.

Booth and Oxford.

"Through evil report and good report, and in spite of much physical disability, he slowly came into his own. To one who is aware of his beginnings and lifelong limitations it seems almost grotesque that said conservative Oxford—so jealous of his learning, so hearty in his abhorrence of the 'Philistines'—should have conferred on this man her degree of Doctor of Civil Law; but Oxford did it and Booth deserved it. For into the very heart of Oxford and of all of decent English Booth had driven his own conviction that the most venerable of human laws are but a dead letter unless and until they are suffused and applied by the higher Law of Love. All over the world there are thousands of well-to-do people who owe it to General Booth, and his blatant, conspicuous reminders, that they did not quite forget 'Who is My Neighbor?'—The Churchman

Husband Called Her Fat.

Mrs. Tessie Marcusson filed a suit for separation from Leo Marcusson on the ground of cruelty. One of her chief allegations is that on many occasions he taunted her on account of her size and weight. She said last May he came home one night, awakened her and thrust in her face a newspaper advertisement of a remedy to reduce weight and advised her to use it. Mrs. Marcusson also said that a letter was sent to her from a Denver concern advertising treatment for stout women. It was an answer to a request for information. She believes her husband had the letter sent to humiliate and distress her.

WHERE TELEPHONE IS HANDY

"Shutins," Confined by Contagious Disease, Find an Easy Method of Communication.

In a circular distributed by a stenographer occurred the phrase "Contagious diseases correspondence promptly attended to."

"Diction over the telephone by people who have been quarantined on account of scarlet fever or diphtheria, that's what that means," she said. "Many families that are thus shut off from the world do not wish to send out a scrap of paper that can possibly carry contagion. Of course, there are many ways of overcoming the difficulty, and people laid up with disease that is catching have always found a way to let their friends know what ailed them, but it seems to me that the safest and sanest way is to dictate the news over the telephone.

"The mother of two children that had measles suggested that I make that line of work a specialty. She got my address from the doctor and dictated a two-page letter before I had had a chance to look up her references. She was good pay, though. Most quarantined letter writers are in this long-distance correspondence you have to trust largely to the good faith of your employer. When a stranger wishes me to take a letter I inquire the name of the doctor, and sometimes I take the precaution to telephone him to find out if the patient is responsible financially, but usually I go ahead with the letter and trust to heaven for the money. Heaven I am glad to say, has generally stood by me."

BISHOP ROWE AND ALASKA

Churchman Seemingly Blazing the Path of Progress in Far Northern Territory.

Archdeacon Stuck of Alaska, who has just been making his annual summer cruise in the Pelican, writes from Tanana to the Spirit of Missions that Bishop Rowe has worked a veritable miracle at that mission during his "thawing out" there. The natives have been worked upon and moved to band themselves together against the introduction of liquor among them; they have already had two of their number arrested and fined for drunkenness and disorder, and have given public notice in the local paper that they will testify in court against any man who attempts to sell them liquor. Under the bishop's leadership they have started a large communal garden, and have elected a village council, such as there is at Fort Yukon and Eagle, and a new chief.

Wind and Waves Cause Quakes.

To the average man any movement of the "solid" ground is a striking exception to the normal order of nature. To the seismologist, on the contrary, absolute tranquillity of the earth is the exception, and quakes—large or small—are the rule. The little quakes are quite as interesting from the scientific point of view as the big ones. There is an international commission for the study of these "microseisms," as they are called. One type of microseism has a period of 30 seconds. This has been traced to friction of the wind upon the earth's surface. In other words, the wind creates waves—vibrations—over an extended land surface, just as it does over the ocean. Another type has a period of from five to ten seconds. This is found to have no relation to the wind or to other meteorological conditions. It is now most plausibly attributed to the impact of waves on the seashore. Great storms on the Atlantic thus set up trains of little earth waves, which are registered at Hamburg, Strasbourg, Vienna—their amplitude decreasing with the distance inland.

He Knew the Signs.

Bob Hull, the champion story teller of Savannah, had occasion lately to take a business trip into Interior Georgia. He took his golf clubs with him, intending to stop on his way back for a match on the famous links at Augusta.

He dropped off the train at his business destination—a small town on a branch road—carrying his luggage, climbed into an adjacent hack and bade the driver, who was an old negro, take him to the local hotel.

The negro eyed the queer-looking leather bag that his passenger carried with the peculiar looking sticks in it. His curiosity got the best of him finally.

"Boss," he began, "please, sub, excuse me—but mout I ax you a question?"

"Go ahead and ask," said Mr. Hull.

"What kind of a lodge is you institutin'?"—Saturday Evening Post.

Ancestors of All the Von Bulows.

A monument has just been unveiled in Mecklenburg-Schwerin, bearing the following interesting subscription: "To the Knight, Godefrey von Bulow, authentic ancestor of all the Bulows." The family has given Germany many distinguished sons, including not only the ex-chancellor, but also Hans von Bulow, the pianist, the first husband of Mme. Cosima Wagner, and they all claim to be cousins more or less distant.—Fall Mail Gazette.

HAT—HALO—HEADSIZE

(Yes! It's by Caroline)

So much depends on the poise and position of capot and chapeau for correctness, comfort and becomingness that Miss Caroline, the milliner, has spent much time and thought in designing a device for headsize, halo, and bandeau; it fits every curve and contour of the hair and head, and makes all millinery a pleasure to wear. Many of Miss Caroline's modern millinery models modified mean modesty, not more money for so making. These designs delight, give dignity and distinction—they fit the head comfortably, the object and occasion completely—they are exquisite in color and exclusive in construction—they are adapted with skill and style by an adept—they are light in weight, yes! and light in price! You are invited to inspect, not expected to invest in these inventions and consultations. Block of the Brunswick, 480 Boylston St., Boston.

CULP-GODOWSKY CONCERT

The concert at Symphony Hall next Sunday afternoon, March 16th, at 3.30 o'clock will be given by Julia Culp and Leopold Godowsky. Julia Culp is one of the greatest singers of songs in the world. A Dutch woman of the past and attractive personality, the possessor of a voice of more than ordinary beauty, Miss Culp has been one of the sensations of the season just passing. Leopold Godowsky is one of the great pianists of our time. It will be his first appearance in recital in Boston and the opportunity to hear him is one which no lovers of the piano or student of music can afford to miss. He is at the head of the Master School of Piano in Vienna and has already played with much success with the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE—David Belasco's marvellous presentation of "The Governor's Lady" now at the Hollis Street Theatre on its final week, as previously made engagements elsewhere necessitates its removal to "Green Fields and Pastures new"—is an example of what a producer can do with a play that has the elements of dramatic possibility in addition to its literary value. "The Governor's Lady" has been the dramatic sensation of the season, disclosing the superior bravery of womanhood at the crucial moment of great trial and privation, as well as illustrating the extent of self-sacrifice a woman will endure fighting for what she contends is right. When people come three and four times to witness the same performance then the true mission of the stage has been fulfilled, as it surely appeals to that indefinable something in every human breast that seeks for more, and sends the auditor home with better resolutions made for the day to come.

BOSTON THEATRE—"The Garden of Allah" will be seen for the last time in Boston at the Boston Theatre beginning Monday. "The Garden of Allah" strikingly conveys a sense of the spiritual of the desert and the external manifestations of the infinite solitude of waste places, as well as the color and vividness of the oasis—the garden spot that makes the outer world all forgotten. The play itself like the story has a profound spiritual elevation, which in itself is well worth the attention. There is soul in it and it breathes a religious feeling that the impressive stage effects employed heighten. There are ten scenes that are picturesque and effective. Real inhabitants of the desert, Arabs, camels, horses, goats, etc., are all introduced and are thoroughly in keeping in the picture. The engagement positively terminates Saturday, March 22.

THE UNION STATION

An amusing farce-comedy entitled "The Union Station" was presented Friday evening in the parlors of the Church, by members of the Sunday School, under the direction of Mrs. Ralph W. Bartlett, assisted by Mr. Leverett D. G. Dewey.

The stage was converted into a veritable railroad station, and the continuous stream of humanity, coming and going, representing all types, and the scenes of confusion so familiar to the traveler were admirably portrayed by the actors and afforded two hours of great amusement for the audience.

Mr. Hollis Appleton played the role of station agent, and had rather a busy time of it. Miss Dorothy Simpson, as "Mrs. Larkin," caused much merriment when she missed the train and had to wait around the station, "fussing and fuming" for eight hours, and Miss Marjorie Holmes and Derry Philbrick, as "Mr. and Mrs. Martindale," were equally amusing, especially in the latter's efforts to subdue "Hubby" by acting the part of a suffragette.

Miss Elizabeth Bartlett, as Mrs. Hummer, certainly did make things "hum" around that station in her efforts to send a telegram after she had lost a train and her acting was so good that she deserved all the applause she received. But it was "up to Miss Barbara Wellington and Mr. Bentley to bring the convulsions of the audience when, as a bashful bride and groom from the country, they entered the station attended by their bridal party composed of Miss Florence Mandell, Miss Frances Warren, Howard Haywood and Burnham Usher.

"Dunmy" Wheeler, as a street urchin, accompanied by his little sister, both dressed in Italian costume, did some very clever dancing and singing. The entire performance reflected a great deal of credit on those who participated and those directly interested, and the large audience was enthusiastic in expressing its approval.

MOUNT IDA SCHOOL

Rev. Dr. Edwin J. Lacount, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Newton, conducted chapel exercises at the school on Wednesday. Dr. Lacount spoke upon a "Leaf Torn from Life."

Dr. Lacount gave in a word the biography of Philip Sidney, Edmund Spenser, John Milton, Shakespeare and Ben Jonson. He told in a very interesting and telling manner the story of Sidney's wound on the battle field, and of his historical remark when a bottle of water was handed to him. Seeing a soldier mortally wounded being carried by him on a litter, he said to the bearer of the water, "Give the bottle of water to him," and to the wounded soldier, "Thy necessity is greater than mine."

Dr. Lacount made the point that men live through the ages because of their human side and not because of their proficiency in their special work. It was a great address.

On Thursday, Mrs. Amsden, by permission of the Boston Opera Company, sang at the chapel exercises of the school. Mrs. Amsden sang the first aria, "Il est doux, il est bon," from Massenet's opera, "Herodias." She also sang several songs from Schumann, and also a collection of French songs by Hahn and Godard.

CITY EMPLOYEES MEET

At the meeting of the Newton City Employees, held Friday night in Eagle Hall, resolutions were adopted condemning the action of the civil service agent of Newton in allowing non-citizens to be employed, while bona fide citizens of Newton have not received employment. After a lengthy discussion it was proposed to take steps to prevent a continuance of this violation of the Civil Service law. A committee was appointed to wait upon the heads of the various departments, relative to the increase in wages of the city employees, as recommended by Mayor Hatfield, which so far several heads of departments, the members stated, had ignored. The committee was instructed to act on the foregoing resolutions and report their findings at the next meeting. At the meeting 10 new members were admitted to membership.

POLITICAL NOTES

Members of the Republican City Club met yesterday at the Boston City Club with Mr. Alfred Cutting of Weston and Mayor J. H. Gleason of Marlboro, the candidates for the Republican nomination for Congress in this district, as their guests. The coming campaign was the subject of the discussion.

A SUCCESSFUL SHOW

The "Kindergarten for Men" given last Tuesday evening at the First Church, Newton Centre, was a great success, the audience completely filling the auditorium and showing by their applause that the entertainment was most pleasing. Only gentlemen with beardless faces were eligible for the various parts and the pupils included Harriet Cooke, Lij Clark, Ernie Dearing, Louis Eaton, Charlotte Gordon, Robbie Hayden, Georgianna Holmes, Sallie Morrill, Arabella Raynor, Henrietta Waters, Willie Wilder and Fannie Williams.

The children came trooping down the aisle and entered the schoolroom where they were greeted by the teacher, and their garments were properly disposed of. As soon as order was secured the exercises began with a series of songs—"Good Morning Songs," "Finger Plays," "Song of Home Work," etc. Some of the "little folks" distinguished themselves in solos and duets.

The teacher was more or less successful in holding their attention while telling them a story. Then followed the "March" which gave opportunity for human nature to display itself. During the recess the children had a grand time with their lunches. "Toys and Games" and the "Good-Bye Song" closed the kindergarten hour.

Childhood in all its manifold and varied forms was present. Every variety of disposition and conduct displayed itself. There was the grave child and the mischievous, the serious and the rollicking, the prim and the naive, the spoiled and the well-trained, the smart and the dull—they were all there in all their natural traits. They were of all sizes, too, the largest evidently weighing not less than two hundred and twenty-five pounds, and the whole were a good-natured, wholesome lot of children of whom their parents might well be proud.

POLICE NOTES

Walter Hodgkins, 43, of 9 Western avenue, Gloucester, arrested Saturday by the Newton Inspectors on the charge of promoting a lottery, on two counts was sentenced to three months in the House of Correction Monday morning by Judge Bacon. He appealed and was held in $300 bonds on each count for the Superior Court.

In the waiting stations at Washington street and Commonwealth avenue and also at Walnut street and Commonwealth avenue, a machine was placed by Hodgkins, and when the machines were seized $18 was found in one and $14 in the other, all containing cents. The machine was a game of chance, a cent, if it fell in the right slot, would be redeemable in 5, 10 or 25 cents in merchandise in the store.

During the past year the New England Watch and Ward Society has prosecuted 1200 storekeepers for having these machines in their stores, but when the local department noticed the machines they waited until the maker of the machines came into sight and placed him under arrest. John W. Rorke, the counsellor for the Watch and Ward Society, presented its side of the story, while Inspector Fletcher, through whose efforts the man was arrested, gave the facts from the Newton viewpoint.

CITY HALL

A special meeting of the aldermen was held Friday evening with Blakemore in the chair and Aldermen Cabot, Alley, Rice, Murphy, Foknall, Cox, Gordon, Jarvis, Blanchard, Jones, Early, Richardson and Bartlett present.

The precept of Governor Foss for a special election for Congressman in the 13th district was received, and orders passed calling the primary election on April 1st, with ward primaries and regular election hours, establishing polling places for the primaries on April 1st and the election on April 15th, calling the election April 15 and granting $1500 for expenses in connection therewith. The mayor also sent in a communication relative to the ordinance recently passed in regard to the Playground Commission.

THE POWER OF THE RESURRECTION

That Christ is risen is the mighty fact, and Easter bids us know that he who was dead is alive and comes with all His mighty energies to do for us just what He did for those disciples who first felt His power. Still does He come to us in our loves inwoven with sorrow, to sanctify and cheer as He came to those women by the sepulchre. Still does He come to us in our temptations and sins as He sought the penitent Peter, to forgive and cleanse. Still does He come to us in our work with all its grind and fret and worry and strain and disappointments as He halted those disciples in the gray of the morning after the fruitless night and provided for the need. Still does He come to us in the midst of our doubts and perplexities, as He came to Thomas, and help us to believe where we cannot see. Still does He come to us in our fears, as He drew nigh to those disciples who were huddled together in the evening, the doors being shut, and speak the old greeting so familiar but charged with new meaning because filled with the steady calm of Eternity. "Peace be unto you." Let us celebrate Easter with a more royal faith; let us live in the spirit of the Christ and enter His work more fully. Then will He give us to feel the uplift of His expectation, to thrill with His own pulses of life, and will help us, both now and in the time to come, to know more, to do more, to be more, and to love more, through the power of His resurrection.

LONGWOOD CRICKET CLUB

To Hold Indoor Courts at Chestnut Hill

The 36th annual meeting of the Longwood Cricket Club, held Monday at its new home, the Chestnut Hill Clubhouse, was an all-around success.

First, an excellent five-course dinner was partaken of by nearly 70 club members, then the business meeting was held, and last, but not least, a vaudeville show under the direction of Harry C. Johnson was enjoyed.

Two matters of importance to Boston were decided by unanimous vote. The first was the construction, either directly opposite or in the vicinity of the Chestnut Hill Clubhouse, of a building containing two indoor double courts, and the next the purchase of additional land adjoining that already secured by the club, and the widening by the city of Newton of Middlesex avenue and Hammond street, two places by which Boston will be provided with the finest tennis plant in this country. Besides the indoor courts, 14 gravel and from 24 to 26 turf courts will be available.

Not only was it unanimously voted to empower the committee to build the new covered court, but it was shown that its financial success was already assured by pledges of members.

The former officers, President Edward Sheafe, Vice-President Philip Stockton, Treasurer Anson M. Lyman and Secretary Palmer Presbrey, together with the board of directors, were unanimously re-elected.

Reverting to the amusement features, "His Honor Mayor Fitzgerald," appeared in the person of President Sheafe, who sang with the aid of Harry Johnson and a quartet the famous "Sweet Adeline." New talking "movies" concluded the program.

John O'Shea gave a pianoforte selection; Charlie Rotch, clog dancing; Harry Johnson, monologue and song, assisted by Walley Rand at the piano; "Peanut" Dutton, singing, "A Girlie was Just Made to Love"; "Gaby Deslys" and Al Johnson (Ralph Menard) in a song, story and dance act, and the "Prickly Heat" Quartet, Messrs. "Rob" Seaver, Skelton, Irving Wright and Tenney.

Beals Wright acted as stage director and an orchestra of four first violins and a bass drum helped to keep things humming.

One of the curious phases of the labor view of the wage question is the fact that individual efficiency is not recognized, and in fact, is practically discouraged. That one man can shovel dirt faster than another, and accomplish more work in a given amount of time and in consequence should be paid higher wages on account of his greater productive power, is used as a reason for advancing the wages of all men, in that class, regardless of results. This is emphasized by the pressure now being brought to bear on the mayor and department heads to raise every laborer in the city employ to the minimum figure of $2.25 per day. The recent order of the mayor authorized department heads to pay the additional 25 cents per day to men, who were the most efficient, leaving to the department heads, the task of picking out the better men. It is inevitable that such a course would cause friction, but it is no valid reason why the system should not be established.
When the men recognize that more and better work will result in more and better wages, the city as well as the men will be benefited by the change.

The reported attitude of the Playground Commission in opposing placing temporary sanitaries on the public playgrounds because the city is unable, financially to afford the costly permanent buildings favored by the Commission, is a matter worthy of serious criticism. Every person cognizant with the use made of the playgrounds, must realize that some kind of public convenience stations are absolutely necessary, not only to prevent physical suffering among the children, but to prevent the creation of nuisances in the neighborhood. West Newton Common, for instance, where thousands gather to witness ball games, makes an imperative demand for a sanitary station, and to postpone the erection of a temporary structure here because it does not meet the more costly views of the Playground Commission is almost a crime. The Commission should realize that its duty is to serve the public and not to dictate to it.

Our good friends in Ward Six ought to realize that further delay in presenting the name of a candidate for mayor will probably result in a contest for the nomination next fall. One well known gentleman on the north side of the city has already been approached in this direction and if Ward Six wishes the honor of naming the next mayor it should make a prompt decision. There are rumors that the committee of citizens who are endeavoring to select a candidate in that ward are unable to agree and in that case the proper thing to do is to have its members resign and allow a new committee to be appointed.

Newton Highlands has at last awakened to the idea that if it desires such local improvements as larger grounds for its school buildings and a playground for its small children, it must fall in with the established custom of the city and contribute part of the cost. The movement to enlarge the school grounds of the Hyde Schools has started many times on a wrong basis. The present plan meets the situation more fairly and ought to succeed.

The business men of Newton have taken a wise step in forming an organization to advance their mutual interests. The need of some form of cooperation has been evident for several years, and the Association, if properly handled, ought to serve a most useful purpose. Its success should encourage the business men of other sections of the city to form similar organizations, and may eventually lead to the establishment of a Board of Trade for the entire city.

From all reports there seems to be hardly any opposition to the nomination of Mr. Alfred L. Cutting of Weston by the Republican party on April first, as the successor of Congressman Mr. Cutting's candidacy grows stronger each day, and he will be without doubt, the best candidate the party can name.

The types made me refer last week to Senator Weeks as the "former senator." Instead of the "junior senator." We hope it will be a long distance in the future before Captain Weeks is a "former" senator.

The Senate has distinctly shown its displeasure at the reflections cast against a member of the House by Senator McDevitt views held by suspending that person from all his privileges as a senator until May first, without salary, requiring a public apology and the infliction of a public reprimand by the President. This incident strikingly indicates the folly of electing persons to political office on a single issue, complicated with the running of a third party candidate for the same office. Senator McDevitt was elected as the result of a strong Progressive candidate running against Mr. Roger Wolcott, the Republican candidate and the Democratic candidate, Mr. McDevitt. Mr. Wolcott had antagonized the woman suffrage advocates, and the Republican strength was so diminished by these complications that a man like Senator McDevitt was elected.

I have little sympathy with the anti-suffrage views held by Mr.
Wolcott, but woman's suffrage is but one matter among thousands, and the Quincy district now suffers from making that one matter the crucial factor in the election of last fall.

The election laws committee has acted wisely in reporting adversely against the abolition of party enrollment for primaries. So long as party government is essential—and who can deny that it is not—it will be necessary to retain control of the party by its own members. To allow persons not affiliated with the party to enter its councils, when they choose, and help settle the party differences, usually in a manner which will hurt rather than help party success, is most unfortunate and un-American.

The matter of dredging the Charles River from the Glen street bridge at Watertown to the Needham line was heard this week. The project calls for $200,000 and was favored by various city officials of Waltham and opposed by the Boston law department on the ground that the municipalities affected should pay the expense rather than the Metropolitan district.

Because Brookline is asking for permission to increase its authority to take water from the Charles River valley from five to eight million gallons, Water Commissioner Whitney believes that Newton should have similar authority, as our limit at the present time is five million gallons. Mayor Hatfield's petition to this effect has been admitted and will be considered by the Water Supply Committee.

The bill to authorize the formation of municipal associations has been referred to the next general court. This is the bill which is the result of the recent attempts to annex territory to Boston, and would allow municipalities to form organizations for mutual interest and protection.

Next general court has also been reported on Mayor Hatfield's petition to authorize assessments for exterminating the elm tree beetle, the San Jose scale and similar insect pests.

All three of our representatives voted with the majority to sustain the adverse committee report on building a state armory at East Boston. They were also unanimous in successfully opposing the bill which would allow the vote on the liquor question to be taken at the state election rather than at the city election. Representative White, however, favored the bill to make New Year's Day a legal holiday, while Representatives Bothfield and Ellis opposed. This is the bill which Speaker Cushing killed by making a vote on Monday. All three representatives voted against reconsideration of the vote on Tuesday.

The woman's suffrage question was debated yesterday for the first time, and the measure substituted for an adverse report of the committee. All three of our representatives allowed their personal views to take precedence of the party platform and voted against substitution.

NEWTON CLUB

Another banner entertainment was given Wednesday evening when Whites Musical Review was presented by a talented company of young ladies, 8 in number, who held a large audience with unstinted applause. The singing, both solo and quartette, was excellent, as was the instrumental music for violin, flute and cello. It would be difficult to single out the most pleasing features of the evening but reference must be made to Miss Jean Fowler, reader and contralto, Miss Helen Grant, cellist and contralto, and Miss Mary Brooks, violin and soprano who, by her instrumental work especially, displayed a breadth of tone color and facility of execution that brought hearty encores. The "Meditation," from Thal's, followed by the Chopin Valse so well done was especially well received.

On Wednesday evening next the club will hold its Masquerade Dance.

Church of Newton Highlands, aug-forty singers and assisted by a string quartet and special soloists, will give Mauder's sacred cantata, "Olivet to Calvary." Special efforts have been made by the Choir Director, Mr. Robinson, to make this the most notable sacred musical service ever given in St. Paul's Church, if not in the Highlands, and the composer's beautiful interpretation of the incidents of the last days of Christ's life should be satisfactorily rendered by the enlarged chorus and following soloists: Miss Miriam Bates and Miss Adele Nichols, sopранos; Miss Alice Reese, contralto; Mr. Ralph L. Harlow, tenor, and Mr. Edwin S. Drown, baritone. The

—The annual dramatic entertain-take place in Lincoln Hall, Newton Highlands, on Friday and Saturday come to be regarded as the crowning dramatic event of the season in the Highlands because of the ever changing originality of the productions and the surprising excellence of the performances by the young actors. The audiences are annually astonished by the almost professional ease and excellence displayed by the work of the performers, who, with a limited number of exceptions, range from seven to fifteen years in age. This year's production is to be more nearly on the lines of a light opera than ever before and rehearsals are now progressing rapidly under the direction of Mrs. A. G. Wellman, who has brought out all the former shows.

course the four particular favorites are Frank Lator, Hazel Dawn, Alice Dovey and Alice Hegemen, but all of the old cast were warmly welcomed.
The Boston Globe said: "It is safe to

LADIES' NIGHT

"Ladies' Night" was observed last evening by the Central Club at Central Church. A reception was held at which Rev. William E. Strong, president of the Club, and Mrs. Strong received the guests. Dinner was served in the dining room, about 7 o'clock.
The tables were very attractively decorated for the occasion, with potted plants and cut flowers. A different variety of flowers, including roses, pinks and jonquils being artistically arranged on each table.

Mr. Strong was toastmaster and gave some very bright and witty toasts. Mr.
Albert Lyon responded for the gentlemen and Mrs. Irving Palmer responded for the ladies very gracefully in verse.

A very fine program was arranged for the entertainment which followed, consisting of musical selections which were beautifully rendered by the American Board Quartet, a quartet among whom were Rev. D. Brewer Eddy, Rev.
Eugene Bell, and Rev. H. Grant Person of this city.

Mr. John Anderson of Cambridge, who was born in Scotland about 100 miles from the home of Robert Burns, entertained the audience most deligh-tfully with Scotch stories and poems.
Mr. Anderson was for 11 years the head of the Floating Hospital, of which he was the founder.

There was an unusually large attendance, and it was a very pleasant social occasion.

Miss Grace M. Burt, Editor.

One of the newest departments of the State Federation is that of Music.
The Club Editor has referred to the work of this department before. A new circular from the chairman has just been received. It announces a second outline on Musical Appreciation, which will be sent out quite soon.
The department also offers to suggest musical talent for clubs, reminds the clubs that they may obtain the free services of a teacher from the Leland Powers School to interest club women in the development of the speaking voice, and announces that Mr. W. L. Hubbard of the Boston Opera House will continue his talks on opera next season. Surely these suggestions should meet with ready response from the clubs. Any clubs desiring further information will be interested in the Music conference to be held by this department, notice of which is given below.

Local Happenings

The Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club observed "guest day" on Saturday afternoon, March 8. About fifty members and guests met at the home of Mrs. Bicknell of Erie avenue to listen to a lecture by Prof. E. Charlton Black of Boston University. Prof.
Black, after commenting upon Shakespeare in a general way and touching upon the chronological order of the plays, devoted his time to a consideration of the tragedy of Coriolanus, which the club has been studying.
The question has often been asked, he said, why we place so much importance upon the order of the plays? His answer was that the different plays reveal Shakespeare's attitude toward life at the different stages of his development. As an example he cited the fact that Shakespeare's mother died in 1608, and the play of Coriolanus was written about 1608-1609, so it was not strange to find that the dominant motive of the play was motherhood. In consideration of the political questions in the play he pointed out Shakespeare's sympathy with the common people as shown in the utterances of the mob, and spoke of it as an artistic record of a victory of the people. Prof. Black spent some time on the consideration of the character of Coriolanus, speaking of him as an object of noble pity, that the dead Coriolanus was greater than the living. Of his relation to his mother he said they stand together in an inner circle and form the inmost heart of the great drama. It is a record of ancient Roman honor paid to motherhood. Prof. Black read from the sheets of a critical study of the play which he is about to publish. At the close of the lecture there was a social hour with refreshments. Mrs. W. M.
Mick and Mrs. S. L. Eaton presided over the table, which was attractively decorated with jonquills, a harbinger of spring.

The C. L. S. C. of Newton Highlands met with Mrs. G. Q. Hill on Monday, March 20. Mrs. Hill was in charge of the work for the afternoon.
Keats' "Hyperion" was read and discussed. Mrs. Hill compared it to Milton's "Paradise Lost."

The Monday Club of Newton Highlands met at the home of Mrs. J. Van Brookman of Newton Centre on March 10. During the first part of the afternoon the members listened to papers on "The Industries of Massachusetts" by Mrs. Joseph W. Moore and Mrs. J.
H. Turnbull. Mrs. D. A. Cox rendered two selections most enjoyably.
Mrs. C. D. Miller read Mrs. Browning's "Cry of the Children." After the recital Mrs. C. S. Luitweller gave a most comprehensive description of the manufacture of leather and shoes. He spoke of the soaking of the hides with the hair on in a saline solution; removing the hair with lime; tanning by the new method with chemicals rather than with chestnut or hemlock bark, a process which took years. The new way is of only a short time. Soft leather is tanned with sumach tanning and white with alum. After the tanning process a water spray plays over the hides, then oil, lard and soft soap are worked into the leather hot.

Afterwards the hides are squeezed flat on the table and sleeked smooth.
Then comes bleaching, coloring, polishing and lubricating with soap or castor oil. The skins are made pliable by being run over a roll with knives which break the stiffness. Large skins are cut in halves or thirds for easier handling. Small skins are cured whole. The great demand for leather the last few years is in part from motor vehicles manufacture. Fancy and glazed leathers were described. The large shoe manufacturers here do not make every part of the shoe, but assemble the various parts from the products of various makers.

Before the Waban Woman's Club, on Monday afternoon, at the home of Mrs.
Leah H. Robinson, Frank C. Richardson, M. D., gave a very entertaining lecture on "Sleep and Dreams." He said that there was even a greater need of sleep than food, for it repairs the nerves. He called dreams the creations of the mind, things scientists were still wondering about, although several theories have been advanced. Fantasy was called the basis of dreams, and he said that many times people had waking dreams when they supposed they were thinking. He spoke of the strong power of association, of how a person might, while asleep, solve a problem, think of a poem or in fact follow up any branch of thought particularly interesting to that person. A dream has been called the fulfillment of a long-desired desire, he said, and also spoke of how dreams sometimes affected the minds of people the next day. He described the difference between the old gypsy method of interpreting dreams and the modern scientific one, and then he cited several cases of somniaambulism. After his talk he very kindly answered questions.

At the meeting of the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning the subject, "State Socialism—What the State is Doing for the Laborer," was treated by four members. This concludes the course on Socialism with the exception of a lecture by Prof. T.
N. Carver, who will come on April 9 to tell "What Is the Next Thing to Do."

Mrs. Vernon B. Sweet told of what is being done in Germany, speaking of the Social Democrat Party, of the Labor Registration, of the labor colonies. She told what is being done for the housing problem, of the campaign against tuberculosis. The medical inspection in the schools there, she said, has been the pattern for the whole world. The insurance boards and the industrial insurance laws were spoken of.

Mrs. J. L. Colby explained the Insurance Act of July, 1912, in England.
This act makes compulsory insurance in the case of sickness and unemployment. She enumerated the house servants, telling what wages they received in each case and explained how this act affects them.

State Socialism of New Zealand was described by Mrs. W. H. Daggett.
While this country is nominally under British rule, it is for all intents and purposes an independent republic.
Postal savings banks were established there as long ago as 1865. She told how the land was apportioned among the settlers. Of the public utilities under government control, she mentioned the railroads, the telegraph, telephone and the post office. The telephone rate is so low that it has been used to an extent exceeding any other country. The telephone rate is less than $15 a year. In the postal savings banks there are 400,000 accounts. An old-age pension law was passed in 1898. An arbitration law for the settlement of disputes was adopted in 1894. The hours of labor are restricted to eight hours a day, with four hours on Saturday. Boys under 16 and girls under 18 are for-bidden to work in factories. The aim of the country is to give equal justice to all its people.

Following these papers Mrs. Henry L. Harriman gave a most interesting account of the way things have been managed in the Canal Zone. It is in reality government acting under a military despotism. The government holds the railroad, furnished a line of steamers from New York to the Colon, and the country of yesterday for the maelstrom and controlled malaria. She described the amusements which the government has provided to keep the people contented, the Y. M. C. A. clubs, the women's clubs, the boarding houses and hotels, the bakery, the laundry, all run by the government.
All these activities exhibit an economy the most progressive ever met, with an economy which is not rigidity. All this stupendous work has been done without graft. In closing she reminded her hearers that this is not socialism, but despotism.

On Wednesday afternoon Miss Galbraith entertained the Perian Club Her paper upon the "Cathedrals and Abbeys of Ireland" was most interesting and was much enjoyed by those present.

NEWTON WINS SECOND PLACE

In the triangular debate between Newton, Brookline and Somerville, held last Friday evening, Newton won second place by defeating Somerville, while Brookline was first with wins over both opposing teams.
The question under debate was "Resolved, that the jury system should be abolished in the United States." Each school entered two teams and debates were held in each of the three high schools, the home team taking the negative side of the question in each place.
Somerville came to Newtonville with about a hundred friends and gave its teams enthusiastic support. Music was furnished by the Somerville Boys' Glee Club. Mr. George Royal Pulsifer presided and the home school was represented by George Aiken, '13, captain, Charles D. Kepner, Jr., '14, and Gordon Van Kirk, '13. The judges were M. S. Power, principal of the Dorchester High school, and Dr. H. L. Chase of Brookline. Somerville was represented by Eric Johnson, captain, Sharkey and Scanlon. The judges awarded the debate to Newton.

At Brookline, Newton was represented by William Prosser, '14, Hugh Boyd, '13, and Robert Van Kirk, '14, and the Newton High school orchestra furnished the music. Newton was unsuccessful, the judges giving the decision to Brookline.

At Somerville, where Brookline and Somerville were represented, the judges were Mr. R. L. Bridgman of Auburndale, Mr. Russell C. Gibbs of Newtonville and Mr. C. L. Hanson of Boston.

Members of the Auburndale Musical Club were entertained at a musicale on Monday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. Franklin Spooner on Aspen avenue, Auburndale.

A finely selected program of high class music including 8 numbers, was presented, and each number was received with great enthusiasm by the audience.

The program opened with tenor solos by Mr. Chase of Brookline, who sang with admirable breadth and expression; Cello solos by Miss Edith Soden, and piano solos by Miss Mabel Ober were excellently rendered; a group of songs by Mrs. W. J. Spaulding, and vocal duets by Miss Ruth Crandall and Miss Eva Van Wageningen were delightfully sung, and piano duets were played most effectively by Miss Marian Chapin and Miss Mabel Ober.

Pleasing selections were rendered by a trio composed of Miss Miriam Herron, violin; Miss Soden, cello, and Mrs. Freeman, piano. A unique feature of the program was the singing of some Hawaiian songs to the accompaniment of the native instrument by Mr. Harold Clarke. Mrs. Nelson Freeman was the accompanist.

STORAGE BATTERY

Lower Falls To Have Up-To-Date Railroad Service

A new storage battery record was established with the arrival on Monday morning, over the track of the Boston & Albany, of a car which left New York City at 9 A. M. on Sunday. It was both the longest and fastest run ever made by a storage battery car. There was not a hitch from beginning to end, scarcely a sound, and never a speck of soot or clunder. The car was built by the Beach Car Company, the Edison concern organized to manufacture railroad cars suitable for battery purposes, and the storage batteries were made by the Federal Storage Battery Company, another Edison concern. The car is brought here for a service test and will be run experimentally on the Newton Lower Falls branch of the Boston & Albany Railroad between Riverside and Newton Lower Falls.

The car left the Grand Central Terminal in New York and quickly attained a speed of thirty miles an hour. At Highbridge the speed was increased to forty miles and at that rate the car clipped quietly up the Hudson, over the mountains and into Boston, 310 miles away. Stops were made at Poughkeepsie for lunch and at Hudson and Springfield to recharge the batteries.

Five years ago R. H. Beach left the General Electric Company and went to Edison's laboratories to build for Mr. Edison a car to which storage batteries might be successfully attached. For four years he experimented, constructing cars and then smashing them, spending in all about $150,000 at the task. Last year a car similar to the one which ran to Boston was completed and pronounced suitable. In general appearance it does not look unlike a subway car, but it is much lighter. For endurance the inventor has disregarded the old principle in car construction which counts weight the chief factor in stability and has depended almost entirely on flexibility. The essential difference in the car, however, is that the wheels are free to rotate and rotate separately, the motor being attached to each wheel by chain. This device makes it possible to propel the car with one-half the energy that would otherwise be required.

It is estimated by Mr. Beach that the battery car can be operated at a cost of 16 cents a car mile, while a standard steam train car is operated at an average cost of $1 a mile. The battery car can be stopped and started at an unprecipitated cost, while the same operation with a steam train is estimated to cost $5. The new car, batteries and all, is sold for $18,000. It has a seating capacity of sixty persons, and will run 120 miles with one charge. An hour is required for recharging.

The car is designed principally for short runs where frequent stops are necessary and for use on branch lines called "suckers" in railroad vernacular, where there is not enough travel to make the operation of steam passenger trains a paying business. If the present car does all that is claimed for it the New York Central will order 150 of them, enough to make fifty three-car trains for operation on various branches.

THE NONANTUM

Fine Record Made by the Hand Engine of Newton Veterans

The hand engine Nonantum of the Newton Veterans Firemen's Association which at Chelsea last August won the first prize in the annual muster of the New England Veteran Firemen's League with a play of 250 feet 7 1-2 inches which was the best of 206 plays made by 89 engines in the 17 musters held during the season; and by half an inch beat the record made at that muster by the world champion Hancock of Brockton; is one of the best, with one of the best playing records of the many hundred hand engines which have been contestants in the more than 600 musters which have been held since they commenced sixty-three years ago.

During the twenty years the Nonantum has been in Newton it has been a contestant in ninety-one musters, won fifty-two prizes, thirteen of them first prizes, aggregating $6,800 in prize money and several trophies. It has twice won the New England League first prize at New Bedford in 1896 and at Chelsea in 1912. Only two other hand engines have won more prize money, the champion Hancock of Brockton, $11,330 (in 117 musters) and the Red Jacket of Cambridge, $7,320. The Nonantum has also won the second largest amount of prize money in a single season, $1,665 in 1902, under command of Capt. John Hargreaves. The largest amount won in a single season is $1,826 by the champion Hancock in 1903. The Chelsea play beat the Nonantum's own record and jumped its standing in the list of fifty best record hand engines from the twenty-second position with 238 feet 6 3-4 inches, to seventh position.

The championship play of the Hancock is 263 feet 8 1-2 inches. The Newton Veterans Firemen's Association was organized Dec. 11, 1889. Its first muster was the sixth annual of the New England Veteran Firemen's League held at Lowell, Sept. 23, 1891, when it used the Chauncey, a Hunne- engine formerly in service at Westboro, which one of its members furnished free of cost to the association provided it would participate in that muster. In November of that year a committee was appointed to purchase a Button, the best pattern of muster engines, and principally through the efforts of Charles A. Hill, one of the members of the committee, and a former resident of Waterville, Me., the Nonantum was purchased of Waterville, and made its first public appearance in Newton on Thanksgiving Day of that year. It is a first class 10 inch cylinder engine, made by L. Button & Son, Waterville, N. Y., in 1854, for the Waterville Engine Co. No. 3. Originally it was an old style engine. It was rebuilt as it is now in 1885. It is now one of the most perfectly constructed of hand engines and has every modern improvement possessed by a muster engine. It is one of eight engines that have six brake arms and it can work as many men as any engine in existence. When it came to Newton its name was changed from Waterville to Nonantum.

When at Waterville it was a contestant in a number of musters and won several prizes. Its best record while in the city is 212 feet 9 inches, made at Bangor, July 4, 1889, which was the best legitimate muster playing record up to that time, and held the world's championship for two years.

With general approval the playing records made at the Weymouth muster of Sept. 17, 1903, where the Nonantum was awarded second prize on a scale play of 277 feet 7 1-2 in. have been dropped from the list of legitimate muster plays because they were made in a strong gale such as never before or since has existed at a muster. All the big plays made at musters since they commenced in 1849 were made under favorable wind conditions and most of them with considerable wind assistance, but merit of engine has counted largely in all of them except at Weymouth, where the gale made phenomenal records, most of them far greater than any hand engine could possibly make on merit with favorable wind conditions or with ordinary wind assistance, and if the Weymouth records had been allowed to stand, they would have seriously injured future musters, and have prevented another championship record being made except under similar gale conditions and playing under such conditions will probably never again be allowed at a muster if they occur, which is not probable.

Much of the Nonantum's success is due to Captain John Exley who was its commander from the time it arrived in Newton until his death, Nov. 16, 1906. Captain Exley was one of the ablest muster engine commanders in the history of such events, and was without a peer in organizing and handling a muster association. Many engine and muster improvements

LUCY JACKSON CHAPTER, D. A. R.

Members of the Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R., were entertained at the Newton Club, March 10th, by Mrs. Francis Newhall, Mrs. George W. Newhall, Mrs. Isaac N. Osgood and Mrs. Ellery Peabody.

Mrs. Charles D. Meserve, Regent of the Chapter, assisted the hostesses in receiving their guests, and presided at the meeting. After the business of the afternoon was finished, Mrs. Wallace C. Boyden of Newtonville, read a delightful paper on "The Reminiscences of Daniel Webster." As Mrs. Boyden's former home was in Marshfield, and her father and grandfather had known Mr. Webster personally, she was able to tell many enjoyable anecdotes about the great statesman, as well as to give a clear picture of his early days of poverty and struggle for an education. His successful and brilliant statesmanship followed by the crushing disappointments of late years, was told with sympathy and understanding. Miss Elizabeth Upham sang during the afternoon, and refreshments were served at the close of the meeting. Mrs. Henry M. Davis and Miss Alice Morton assisted at the tea table.

The following officers were elected: President, Frank M. Barber; Vice-President, Walter R. Forbush; Secretary and Treasurer, Theodore E. Jewell; Executive Committee, H. Howard Armstrong, Albert N. Bullens, William Hanson, Welles E. Holmes, Charles H. Justice. Resolutions were adopted expressing the appreciation of the club of the devotion of the retiring President, Albert N. ST. PATRICK

"The Life of Saint Patrick," from his earliest infancy to his death, will be presented in motion pictures at Symphony Hall, Boston, St. Patrick's Day, afternoon and evening. There are more than 3500 feet of film in the four reels of pictures, and every scene, every incident, is historically accurate. The production was made in Ireland under the direction of J. Theobald Walsh, a brilliant Irish scholar, by skilled operators, and in all the groupings there were none but Irish peasants. More than eleven months were consumed and more than 400 people utilized in making the production, and notwithstanding the moist weather of Ireland, splendid results were obtained. When viewed by clergymen, prominent Irishmen and motion picture experts in New York a short while ago, the picture was declared to be an artistic triumph. Peter S. McNally, who is perhaps better known as a swimmer and newspaper man, but who has during the past year or two earned quite a reputation as a platform talker, will lecture on "The Life of St. Patrick" in conjunction with the motion pictures.

For the land's sake, use Bowker's Fertilizers; they enrich the earth and those who till it. These fertilizers are now sold in Watertown and vicinity by J. Loring & Co., opposite the United States Arsenal on Arsenal Street, Watertown, who will carry them in stock at all times. They will also make a specialty of Bowker's Lawn & Garden Dressing put up in large and small bags. If you have a flower garden or a vegetable garden, or want to make the grass grow luxuriantly on your lawn, be sure to consult Loring & Co., about it. Market gardeners all around Boston have used Bowker's Fertilizers for forty years. Advt.

NEW ENGLAND RAILROADS

(Boston News Bureau.)

Very few people see that the whole New England Railroad situation is in its third transition stage—the stage of electrification. By July 1 next the electric operations will have been extended from New York to New Haven and 80 heavy main line locomotives will then be released for traffic east of New Haven, electric locomotives taking their place on the western division. Electrification is needed in and around Boston, but what do we get in place of electrification? Agitation and restrictive legislation. These are fine assets for the Grand Trunk and the railroads outside of New England, but they are of mighty little value in rebuilding up a railroad system for New England. It will take five years more of solid hard work, if the business of New England grows in the next five years as it has in the past ten, to solidify and electrify New England's railroad system, and the people who condemned it three years ago condemn it now and will be condemning it three years hence.

It seems to be one of the laws of Providence that the men who have large work to do have to be annoyed, pricked, slandered, and publicly harassed while their great work is in progress. The Amos of New England who built the Union Pacific and Hariman who rebuilt, were no exception to the rule, and the railroad builders of New England need not expect to escape. But the people of New England should understand that the Brander's remedy, "To go backward," is just as fallacious as his remedy of "scientific management." The people of New England should also remember that if the railroad is pushed into the "going backward" policy the states of New England will in time have to come forward and supply the capital that Mr. Mellen has thus far been able to raise and pour by the million into the building up of a railroad system for New England—or New England must itself go backward.

COMING TO THE BOSTON THEATRE

MACLYN ARBUCKLE

"THE ROUND-UP"

SPECIAL PRICES

The attraction at the Boston Theatre beginning Easter Monday, March 24, will be the return of Maclyn Arbuckle in Klaw & Erlanger's massive production, "The Round-Up." The theatrical annals of Boston do not record such a towering success as "The Round-Up." Every character and scene in the piece breathes the life of the great Southwest. The enthusiastic interest displayed by every audience is the most flattering endorsement this really great production can receive. The battle scene in the third act is a stupendous stage effect, the like of which has never been seen before. The appearance of twenty mounted Indians riding along a ledge of rock far above the stage level is a thrill indeed, but it is far surpassed in the great incident at the end of the third act, "The Round-Up." The sheriff, and a troop of cavalrymen are shown in actual hand-to-hand fight with a band of Apache Indian marauders escaped from their reservation. There have been great thrills presented on the Boston stage in years past, but nothing that touches this in point of realism has ever been seen in any theatre in the world. In the last act a real cowboy is shown riding bucking broncos. This, too, is a novelty never before seen in what is termed an indoor attraction.

The magnitude of this production is such that it can only be played in a few cities and in the largest theatres. Its performance at the Boston Theatre is the only opportunity those living within a reasonable journey of Boston will have of seeing this tremendous dramatic sensation. So great is the demand for seats from those living at a distance from Boston that a special bureau has been established for the expedient handling of mail orders, which when sent with cash or money order and accompanied by addressed, stamped envelope, receive immediate attention. Regular matinees Wednesday and Saturday. Special Prices will prevail during "The Round-Up" engagement—25c, 50c, 75c and $1.00. No seat over $1.00. Seat Sale Tuesday, March 19; Mail Orders Now.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE—Exactly nineteen years ago next Monday, March 24th, the doors of B. F. Keith's beautiful theatre were thrown open to the public for the first time. For the week beginning with the anniversary of this epoch-making event in the history of American vaudeville, Mr. Keith has arranged a stupendous all-star bill, one that is thoroughly typical of the tremendous strides made in vaudeville in the past two decades. Henry Woodruff, the popular legitimate actor, will make his vaudeville debut in a one-act comedy playlet by John Stokes, entitled, "A Regular Business Man." The novelty of the week will be Travalla Brothers and their wonderful Diving Seal, "Winks," who performs most startling feats beneath the water in a mammoth glass tank. W. C. Fields, the silent humorist, just returned from Europe, will be another big feature, and Dolly Connolly and Percy Wenrich have a series of new popular song hits. James Leonard and Co. will present "When Ham Lets Her," an amusing travesty on Shakespeare's immortal tragedy. Morgan, Haynes and Morgan, racketeer entertainers; Dooley and Packerin, Odd Funyoalities, The Gransoms in a novel specialty, and the wonderful Thomas A. Edison Talking Motion Pictures, will hall new subjects.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE—The return of the Irish Players for their second Boston engagement, beginning next Monday night at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston, will be a matter of delight and interest to the theatregoers of New England. Since the first American performance of this remarkable organization of players last year, the fame of their achievements in this country has become a matter of household knowledge. In addition to the large number of plays presented last season, many new plays will be included in their repertoire. The company is still headed by Lady Gregory, the eminent playwright, and will include Sara Allgood, Marie O'Neill, Cathleen Nesbitt, Eileen O'Doherty, Arthur Sinclair, J. M. Kerrigan, Fred O'Donovan, Sydney J. Morgan, U. Wright and all the other favorites. Their engagement is for a limited time only.

BOSTON OPERA HOUSE—For the final week at the Boston Opera House, beginning next Monday, March 24, Director Henry Russell has prepared one of the most attractive repertoires of the season. On Monday Plotow's "Martha" will be given its first subscription performance. The opera will be sung in English with Alice Nielsen as Lady Harriet, and Maria Gog will be the Martha. "Martha" will be repeated at the Saturday matinee, with precisely the same cast. On Wednesday evening Mme. Lillian Nordica, always a favorite with Boston audiences, will make her sole appearance for the season as Isolde, in Wagner's immortal music drama, "Tristan and Isolde." Associated with her will be Jacques Urus, the great German tenor. Offenbach's "Tales of Hoffmann" will be sung again on Friday evening with an all-star cast. Edmond Clement will return to sing it again. Miss Frieda Hempel will be the doll. Antonia will fall to Lucereza Berl, and Miss Andersen will sing Gluck's "On Saturday." The season will be brought to a triumphant finale, when "The Jewels of the Madonna" will be sung. Mr. Zenatello, Mme. Mellis, Mme. Gay, Mr. Blanchard and the many others in the long cast will positively appear at this closing performance.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—With the coming week at the Castle Square, "Believe Me, Xantippe" will begin its tenth week, and at the same time it will exceed in length of run all previous productions at that house. "The End of the Bridge" it will be remembered, ran for nine weeks, and thus Mr. Ballard's play has overtaken and is passing that remarkable success of two years ago. "Believe Me, Xantippe" is a lively comedy filled with brisk dialogue and breezy action, and its

HAMMOND STREET WIDENED

Board of Aldermen Hold a Long and Interesting Session

Eloquence was untapped last Monday evening at the meeting of the board and the board listened to earnest pleas for the purchase of land at Newton Highlands, to an interesting debate on the widening of Hammond street, and to an able speech on the labor question.

All this took considerable time and it was after ten o'clock when the board adjourned.

President Blakemore was in the chair and Alderman Hatch, who is ill was the only member absent.

Hearings were held on petitions of the Edison Co. for poles on Belmont street, of the Middlesex & Boston St. Rwy. Co. for pole on Centre street, on the laying out of Ionia street, Ward 4, and of Clarence B. Wood, Somerset road, and Chas. B. Wilbur, Hancock avenue, to keep gasoline, at which no one appeared and the two last petitions were subsequently granted. One person spoke in favor of the petition of the Edison Co. for poles on Waban street.

Mayor Hatfield sent in the appointment of John Ewart, as pound keeper, notice of granting pensions to Patrick Coakley, John McCarthy, John Foster, William Sweeney, John Lahey, John Armitage and Patrick Hannigan, and his approval of the recommendation of the City Engineer that Howard street be widened at Bellevue street.

The board accepted the invitation of Frank H. Howes, chairman of the trustees of the free library to the formal opening of the enlarged library building on April 2nd.

The street commissioner gave notice that Los Angeles and Allison streets had been constructed at an expense of $1708.31.

Communications from the Saco-Lowell Co. and from the Board of Gas & Electric Light Commissioners relative to conduct recently granted the former in Oak street were considered and hearing assigned for a meeting to be held on March 24th.

At the request of Alderman Richardson, a hearing was granted at once on the petition of F. R. Moore et al for the purchase of about an acre of land adjoining the Hyde School, and there was a large delegation present from Newton Highlands to support it. Hon. Seward W. Jones was the first speaker and said that the citizens had wanted this land for many years and that it had been before the board several times. The citizens will now undertake to raise half the cost. Mr. Jones called attention to the fact that with the exception of the purchase of some of his land for the recent addition to the Hyde School, all other public land in Newton Highlands, had been donated by citizens. The land in question is needed to save the air and light to the new Hyde School and might be useful in the future if it was deemed wise to erect a library building in the village.

Mr. A. H. Elder said that the city can obtain 46,000 feet of land valued at over $9000 for ten cents a foot. At small expense the land could be made available for playground purposes. The entire block of land would then be used for public purposes.

Mr. E. R. Cogswell, Jr., who drafted the plan shown on the wall of the aldermanic chamber, explained the sketch and called attention to the artistic addition it would make to the neighborhood.

Mr. C. S. Luitweller called attention to the fact that the beautifying of this land would add to the real estate values in the neighborhood and that the erection of apartment houses on it would tend to lower values.

Mr. C. D. Miller, principal of the Hyde School, said it was imperative for the city to control this land, as it is the logical place for school children to play.

Mr. W. S. Jackson spoke in a similar vein, claiming that the children now have to play in the street and urging the city to aid the citizens to purchase the land.

A letter was also received from Ex-Alderman E. P. Bosson in favor of the project.

Petitions were received from G. D. Diamond for a common victualler license at 260 Walnut street, John E. Wildman for a minor's license, Joseph Bates for soldier's relief, Patrick Nally for additional pension allowance, Wyatt et al for laying out under the betterment act for sewer in Up-land road, Dowd et al for sewer in Berwick road, claim of W. B. McMullen for injuries to horse, and the Edison Co. for attachments on Ripley street.

On recommendation of committees, leave to withdraw was granted the Edison Co. for poles on Lake avenue, on petition for sewer in Commonwealth avenue, Ward 4, licenses were granted Violet Davis for transfer of intelligence office to 1640 Walnut street, Geo. McLaughlin, as a minor, $500 was transferred to the School appropriation for care of electrical apparatus in the schools, hearings were assigned on April 7 for laying out of Sharon avenue, Ward 4, and of Faxon street, Ward 1, under the betterment act, for taking land for sewers in Gilbert street and in Bacon place, $3034 was authorized for purchase of sewer construction materials, $2250 was appropriated for construction of temporary sanitariums on the playgrounds, $8 a month Soldier's Relief was granted Angonette Prior, grants were made for certain city expenses and a correction made in the grant previously made to January 15th.

The report of the claims committee, that no action was necessary on claim of William H. Condrin for $10.08 was questioned by Alderman Murphy who thought a great injustice had been done the petitioner. It appeared from the police officer, owed the city a bill of $10.08 for cloth used for a new uniform, and that the city treasurer had deducted that amount from the officer's pay, some six weeks after a bill had been given him for that amount. The officer thought that he had three months to pay the bill, and objected to the action of the treasurer and two weeks later left the sum of $10.08 on the desk of the treasurer. It was brought out that bills of this nature are required to be paid in 30 days from date and that the three months' provision referred to action to be brought in the courts. Members of the Claims committee stated that the city solicitor informed them that the city treasurer had acted entirely within his rights in deducting the bill from the officer's pay, and Alderman Murphy stated that the city solicitor had told him exactly the contrary. The report was accepted with Alderman Murphy voting in the negative.

President Blakemore questioned the chairman of the Committee on Rules quite closely in regard to the time the committee expected to report on the request of the mayor for change in the ordinance defining the duties of the Playground Commission. Alderman Cox stated that the committee had held one lengthy meeting and was awaiting information regarding conditions in other places which had established Playground Commissions. Mr. Cox said that the Playground matter had been hurried thru last year and the committee wanted more time to consider this important subject.

The widening of Middlesex road and Hammond street at Chestnut Hill by the grounds of the Longwood Cricket Club was the matter of considerable debate, the question coming particularly on the widening of Hammond street. Alderman Early objected to the work being done under the general law, claiming that the widening will be of great benefit to the club, and betterments should be assessed. Other portions of Hammond street were more dangerous than the one suggested and many other streets were in far worse condition. The improvement is greater than the value of the land given and the widening will be of great benefit to the club when it has a crowd present during tournaments. Alderman Pratt stated that he did not believe any betterment could be proved for this widening on the property immediately affected. It is a dangerous place for both automobiles and foot passengers. While it is true there are other dangerous places on Hammond street, they are of such a nature that automobilists must observe great caution, while this particular point apparently allows less need of care. Hammond street is a main thoroughfare and now we have an opportunity to improve it, the work should be done. Alderman Alley said that there was far more driving on this end of Hammond street, particularly on Sunday afternoons. Alderman Richardson favored the work being done with the cost included in a bond issue with other important improvements. Alderman Sullivan opposed action under the general law, also he agreed that Hammond street should be improved, and said that there were other places needing attention as much as this street. Alderman Barker said that the Assessors had informed him that it would be doubtful to prove individual betterments on this street. This statement was questioned by Alderman Early, who resented having the Assessors brought into the debate. Alderman Bemis said that it was the intention to make the widening now and allow the actual work of construction to remain until later, as the action would stand for two years. He suggested, however, that some work should be done to fill to the new line and enable the club to erect a new fence on the line of the street. He suggested that this expense of about $500 might come out of the Maintenance appropriation. Alderman Cox objected to expending any money from maintenance for new construction. Alderman Murphy said the order does not commit the city to any expense whatever, and the board can later decide where the $500 should come from. Alderman Bemis said the present condition was dangerous and the city ought to spend something there at once to relieve the situation. City Engineer Rogers estimated the cost of filling to the new line at $500. A motion to lay the matter on the table was defeated 13 to 7. Alderman Jamieson said that this was a needed improvement and it needed improvements are to be postponed because there are suggestions that other improvements are also needed, we won't even get started. He favored action at once. The order for Middlesex road was unanimously adopted, and the order for Hammond street was also passed, with 13 yeas, 6 nays, Alderman Bemis excused, as he was a member of the Club, and Alderman Hatch absent. Those voting in opposition were Alderman Bartlett, Cox, Early, Jarvis, Rice and Sullivan.

Hammond street is a main thoroughfare and now we have an opportunity to improve it, the work should be done. Alderman Alley said that there was far more driving on this end of Hammond street, particularly on Sunday afternoons. Alderman Richardson favored the work being done with the cost included in a bond issue with other important improvements. Alderman Sullivan opposed action under the general law, also he agreed that Hammond street should be improved, and said that there were other places needing attention as much as this street. Alderman Barker said that the Assessors had informed him that it would be doubtful to prove individual betterments on this street. This statement was questioned by Alderman Early, who resented having the Assessors brought into the debate. Alderman Bemis said that it was the intention to make the widening now and allow the actual work of construction to remain until later, as the action would stand for two years. He suggested, however, that some work should be done to fill to the new line and enable the club to erect a new fence on the line of the street. He suggested that this expense of about $500 might come out of the Maintenance appropriation. Alderman Cox objected to expending any money from maintenance for new construction. Alderman Murphy said the order does not commit the city to any expense whatever, and the board can later decide where the $500 should come from. Alderman Bemis said the present condition was dangerous and the city ought to spend something there at once to relieve the situation. City Engineer Rogers estimated the cost of filling to the new line at $500. A motion to lay the matter on the table was defeated 13 to 7. Alderman Jamieson said that this was a needed improvement and it needed improvements are to be postponed because there are suggestions that other improvements are also needed, we won't even get started. He favored action at once. The order for Middlesex

The criticism I expressed in the last issue of the Graphic of the lack of harmony and lack of action of the committee of citizens of ward 6 appointed to present a candidate for the Republican nomination for mayor, appears to have been based on a misapprehension of the facts, as their report which is printed in full on another page states in full.

The committee and the city are certainly to be congratulated on the willingness, however reluctant, of Mr.
Allerton Burr to allow his name to be used as a candidate. A life long resident of the city, thoroughly familiar with all its needs, its history and alive to its future, Mr. Burr will bring to the office an experience in business and an experience in city affairs, which will be of great value to Newton. His candidacy, therefore, should receive the heartiest support of every person interested in good government and will surely enlist the enthusiastic assistance of every citizen who has a personal acquaintance with Mr. Burr.

Considerable indignation has been expressed over the action of a storekeeper in this city who discharged two of his employees, when he learned that the young men were applicants for positions in the fire service. Every good citizen should encourage the entrance into public service of young men who will improve their character and personnel, and not discourage them by handicapping their efforts in this direction.

Routine matters have occupied the Great and General Court the past week, with little of interest to Newton people. The amended bill to establish the office of comptroller of accounts is moving along its way and was passed to be engrossed in the House on Wednesday. It should be enacted in both Houses early next week and will probably be signed by the governor some time during the week.

The Election Laws committee, in a commendable effort to make voters realize the responsibilities of the right of suffrage, has reported a bill to require the registrars of voters to post lists in some public place of the names of each voter who fails to vote at two successive elections. The efficacy of this method is decidedly open to question. It would be far more effective to strike such names from the voting list and require the delinquent to go to the board of registering if he wishes to again become a voter. Another bill reported from the same committee would allow a person to change his party enrollment before the last day for filing nominations for the primary or election at which he wishes to vote. The present law requires notice of such change to be filed several months in advance. Instead of the few days allowed in the pending bill.
A bill has been reported authorizing a county tax in Middlesex of $658-978.80. Last year the county tax was $593,931.52, and the larger sum this year will add over $6000 to our county tax. Another fact to be considered in connection with our city expenses and the 1913 tax law.

Messrs. Ellis and White voted with the minority on the bill to encourage and improve the breeding of poultry.
The Ways and Means committee favoring rejection. By a close vote the House favored the bill. Mr. Bothfeld was not recorded.

The question of woman's suffrage has been assigned for final action on next week, with active work being done on both sides to secure votes. Aside from the merits of the question itself, it Always Pays to Be Pleasant.

The woman who has formed the habit of saying pleasant things and letting everything that is unpleasant pass without comment is in a position to pour oil on the troubled waters of both social and business life. She is the type that gets the most out of life because everyone instinctively turns the best side to her.

Why We Grow

This bank is growing steadily, and we attribute our progress mainly to these reasons: Sound and progressive business methods in the bank's management; the active participation and co-operation of well-known business men in the conduct of its affairs; prompt and courteous attention to the wants of customers and a desire to satisfy them.
We intend to keep right on growing by giving the same kind of service.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Miss Grace M. Burt, Editor.

Questions are being asked concerning the Council Meeting of the General Federation to be held in Washington the week of April 21. For the benefit of those who may be considering attending, it will be of interest to know that the meetings are open to all club women, no credentials being required. The formal invitation printed in the General Federation Magazine for March states that the states of Virginia, Maryland, Delaware will join with the District Federation in bidding welcome. The Raleigh Hotel, 12th street and Pennsylvania avenue, will be the headquarters. The rates given to the D. A. R. Congress will be given the club women. The membership of the Council includes the board of directors, the presidents of all state federations, individual clubs, and other organizations directly federated, and all general federation secretaries and department chairmen. All club women, however, are urged to attend the meetings. Those in charge of the arrangements expect this Council Meeting to surpass in enthusiasm and good practical results any former one. On Thursday the club women will be the guests of the Maryland Federation and the plans include a visit to Baltimore.

Music Conference

On Wednesday, March 26, at 2 o'clock, the department of music of the State Federation will hold a conference in the Union Hall. Somerville, by invitation of the Somerville Woman's Club. The program will include the following subjects: The Speaking Voice, presented by Miss Maud Scherer, Musical Appreciation, Folk Songs by Mrs. Frank A. Morrill, and the Influence of Folk Music upon later Music. The program has been arranged to interest more clubs in music study, that all club women may become good listeners of good music. Admission as usual by card with name of club. A social hour with the hostess club will follow the conference.

Local Happenings

The last regular meeting of the West Newton Women's Educational Club was held in Players' Small Hall on Friday, March 14, at 2:30 P. M. The program was in charge of the Education committee, Miss Helen Gilmore, chairman. Miss Margaret Bennett's interpretation of such a play as Rosalind's "Chanticleer" required rare insight and a knowledge of all phases of human character and emotions. She is an artist in every sense of the word, and her intuition, her keen humor and subtle analysis are revealed in every line. The lesson is so impressive and yet so delicately expressed that it will not soon be forgotten. The intense interest of the audience was evidence of the intelligent appreciation of the subject presented. The afternoon closed with delightful music, after which the ladies gathered in the tea room where dainty refreshments were served. Mrs. J. C. Atkinson, chairman of the Hospitality committee, was assisted by Mrs. W. J. Furbush, Mrs. E. H. Robinson, Mrs. C. E. Conant, Mrs. A. H. Munroe, Mrs. J. A. Symonds, Mrs. W. A. Clark, Miss F. M. B. Sylvester, Mrs. Chas. L. Anderson and Mrs. Harry D. McIntosh poured.

At the meeting of the Shakespeare Club on Saturday afternoon two acts of Timon of Athens were read and discussed.

There was a large attendance at the meeting of the Executive Board of the Newton Federation on Monday morning. The Social Service committee reported that the dental clinic will open with the beginning of the new term of school. The Education committee stated that the rest room in the Classical High School is practically furnished. A medicine cabinet is being made by the boys in the Technical High. There is need for a couch and some extra chairs. The board voted to endorse a bill extending civil service rules to those employed in penal institutions, relating particularly to the institution at Deer Island. The uniform child labor bill was also endorsed. The rest of the time was given up to routine business and to the discussion of plans for the annual meeting, which will be held on Tuesday, May 6th.

On Monday afternoon the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. was entertained by Mrs. Emery Clark. The study of Robert Browning's works was begun under the direction of Miss Webster, Mrs. Hardy and Dr. Wentworth. The first part of Paracelsus was read and discussed. This poem, Browning's second long one, was published in 1835. It contains two great principles, which form the basis of all his poems, namely: the development of the soul and its struggles; otherwise spoken of as knowledge and conduct.

At the meeting of the Newtonville Woman's Guild on Tuesday afternoon, Prof. Dallas Lore Sharp spoke upon "John Burroughs." He considers Mr. Burroughs as the highest type of nature writer, saying that he is the only one who writes true to nature and produces at the same time good literature. A group of songs was rendered by Miss Sladen and tea was served by the social committee, Mrs. F. E. Mann, chairman.

The event of the week was the Masquerade Dance of Wednesday evening. The large hall was well filled with a jolly lot of participants, in all sorts of costumes, from that of deepest beavement to Punchinello and Harlequins. All nations were represented. The swarthy and black bearded Turk, in costume of star and crescent features; the grand vizier, of goodly proportions, a dignified aspect, in his original red skins, with others from every quarter of the globe made an interesting sight. Masques were removed at about 9:30 and much midnight dancing was kept up till midnight. Prizes for best features were given Miss Colby, as Turkish woman of rank and Mr. Bryant as the grand vizier mentioned. The ladies in charge were Mrs. Wm. M. Flanders and Mrs. James L. Richards.

HIGH SCHOOL AND COLLEGE

"Unless the American high school and the American college are adjusted, we have no real educational system," says Clarence D. Kingsley, Specialist in Secondary Education for the Massachusetts Board of Education, in a bulletin on college entrance requirements just issued by the United States Bureau of Education. In these words he sums up the current demand that the colleges of the country shall give the high schools more freedom in their work by ceasing to insist upon requirements for entrance that hamper the school in its duty to the community. He insists that the colleges recognize the changing demands in the high school and base their requirements accordingly. He objects alike to the "easy" college that admits students obviously unprepared and the institution whose demands are so stringent that none of the public high schools can reasonably meet them.

Notwithstanding recent changes in the direction of uniformity, great variety in requirements is still found. English is about the only regularly required subject. Curious contradictions appear in the several hundred institutions examined. Certain subjects are considered so important by some colleges that they require them, while other colleges will not even accept them. Thus, for admission to the A. B. course there are four colleges that give no credit for science and four that give credit for only half a year of it, while, on the other hand, 91 colleges prescribe one full year of science. "Such contradictions as these," says Mr. Kingsley, "burden the high school, provincialize college student bodies, and discredit fine discriminations between subjects." Again, some colleges rigidly enforce the statements printed in the catalogue, while others leave much discretionary power to the officer in charge of admission.

Some real improvements in the relation of high school and college are noted, however, showing that these two important agencies in education are more willing to help each other than they have been in the past. Many colleges now accept various practical subjects for admission. Of the 203 colleges of liberal arts examined, 97 recognize shopwork, 88 commercial branches, and 80 agriculture, and 79 "household science" as subjects for admission. There is a large and growing list of colleges that will accept for entrance any subject that an approved high school counts toward graduation.

That admission to college should be based solely on the completion of a well-planned high school course; that the high school should be given free play, so that it may adapt its work to the needs of the community; and that the colleges must keep the door open to the youthful seeker after a college education who is animated by a strong inner purpose in the face of obstacles regardless of whether he has fulfilled the old-fashioned formal requirements or not; these are some of the conclusions drawn by Mr. Kingsley as to the mutual duty of school and college.

"COLONIAL THEATRE—At the Colonial Theatre, Boston, on Monday evening, March 24, that most delightful of musical comedies, "The Pink Lady," which has been the most-talked-of success of the past and present seasons in Boston, New York and London, will begin the last week of its Boston engagement. Some musical plays are rich in musical numbers, but lack in story, while others, with a good story, lack in fetching music. "The Pink Lady" more so than any other play of its sort, is happy both in its book and music. However, even without a note of music it would be a highly diverting

Newton High School Announces Its Spring Schedule

The call for candidates for the Newton High School baseball team has been issued by Capt. Robert Spalding, and it is expected that when the men report next Monday fully 60 candidates will be in the field. The schedule as arranged by Manager Burnham contains many new teams. Rock Ridge Hall, Watertown H. S., Wellesley H. S. and the Malden H. S. teams being this year added to the list, and several other teams were dropped.

The team is very lucky in having several members of last year's nine again available. Capt. Spalding will no doubt do the bulk of the pitching, with Dave Higgins, last year's winning southpaw, held in reserve. Capt. Spalding has been pitching for the past two years with the High School team, and the experience gained by him will prove a valuable asset.

The back stopping department will again be in the hands of Archie Wellman, with Henry DeRusha performing in the smaller games. Both men are veterans behind the bat, and handy with the stick. Ralph Hyatt, last year's leading batsman, will again be seen in left field and Walter Terrio, a sub in center field last year, is the likely candidate this year.

Several new faces will be seen in the infield. Tom King, who performed in the out field last year, will be shifted to first base, to take the place of Henry Nash, captain of last year's nine.

The schedule as announced by Manager John B. Burnham, is as follows: April 12—Rock Ridge School at Newtonville.
April 16—Roxbury Latin at Newtonville.
April 19—Boston Latin at Newtonville.
April 23—Quincy High at Newtonville.
April 26—Watertown High at Newtonville.

April 29—Wellesley High at Newtonville.
May 3—Mechanics Arts High at Newtonville.
May 5—Somerville High at Newtonville.
May 8—Malden High at Newtonville.
May 12—Arlington High at Newtonville.

May 17—Waltham High at Waltham.
May 21—Medford High at Medford.
May 23—Dorchester High at Newtonville.
May 28—Harvard Second at Newtonville.

May 30—Brookline High at Newtonville (exhibition).
June 3—Cambridge High and Latin at Newtonville (Triangular League).
June 7—Newton High Alumni at Newtonville.
June 10—Brookline High at Brookline (Triangular League).
June 14—Waltham High at Newtonville.

The annual gymnastic meet of the girls will be held in the gymnasium on Friday afternoon, March 28, in charge of Miss Shephardson, the physical director.
The dance of the senior class of the Technical High will be held at Temple Hall, on the evening of April 4th.

LIFE LONG RESIDENT

Mr. George H. Frost Observes Eightieth Birthdday

Mr. George H. Frost, an old and honored resident of West Newton, celebrated his eightieth birthday last Sunday with a little family gathering at his home, 193 Fuller street. There were about twenty, children and grandchildren, present. Mr. Frost was born on Fuller street, March 13, 1833, and has always lived there, conducting a market gardening business. He was the recipient of many beautiful flowers, and numerous letters of congratulation from New York and the West, as well as from friends all over Massachusetts. The following original poem was contributed for the occasion:

1833 TO MR. GEORGE H. FROST 1913
A Tribute
All honor to him today!
All honor to him is due!
He has rounded out his fourscore years So noble and brave and true.

On the farm where his life began,
He has planted each season's crop,
And apples, for half a century,
He has carried to market and shop.
Through trial and sorrow and care He has toiled from early till late,
With a cheery smile and a happy mien And never a word of complaint.

The door of his home stood open wide,
And a welcome the stranger found.
The children ran his wagon to meet,
They knew its familiar sound.
Thus from his humble quiet life He rose to its lofty height Where peace, well earned contentment, And love shine ever bright.

Long may he live in the sunset's glow And rest from his weary task!
May health, and strength, and happiness Be his, while life shall last.

MR. BOND DEAD

Mr. Daniel Willis Bond, for many years a former resident of Newton Centre, died last Sunday at his home at Grafton, Vt. Mr. Bond was operated upon last September for appendicitis, but had apparently recovered, although his health had not been of the best. His condition became serious, however, the last of the week and he passed away on Sunday. Mr. Bond was 41 years of age and resided in Newton Centre nearly all his life, coming here when four years of age and living here until four or five years ago. He was a graduate of the Newton High School, class of '91, and was engaged in the grocery business until the last year when he conducted a hotel at Grafton, Vt. He was a member of the Wallcut Lodge of Masons and of Home Lodge, I. O. O. F., of Newton Highlands. He is survived by a widow and two small children.

Funeral services were held from the residence of Dr. E. A. Andrews on Institution avenue, Newton Centre, Wednesday afternoon, Rev. Edward M. Noyes, D.D., of the First Church officiating.

TRAVEL CLASS

The Travel Class of the West Newton Woman's Educational Club held its semi-monthly meeting at the residence of Mrs. Harry Wells, West Newton, on Thursday, March 6. Two finely prepared papers by Mrs. George McNear, "The Incas," and by Mrs. John R. McLean on Colombia and Ecuador, were thoroughly enjoyed by the class. These papers were followed by one of more than ordinary interest on account of its personal nature, being written and read by Mrs. Samuel Pray of West Newton, who has travelled extensively with her husband, Capt. Samuel Pray, and during various trips has covered a distance of more than one hundred and fifty thousand miles. Mrs. Pray's paper, taken from her book, contained personal reminiscences of trips to India and the Orient, which brought her hearers into close touch with scenes and people entirely strange and new. Refreshments and a social hour followed.

PLAYGROUND COMMISSION

Given Larger Powers at Last Meeting of the Board of Aldermen

The Playground Commission was given greatly increased powers at the last meeting of the board of aldermen on Monday evening, when the amended ordinance was passed by a vote of 16 to 5 after a long debate.

President Blakemore was in the chair and Alderman Hatch, who is the only member absent.

A hearing was given the Saco-Well Co. on its petition to lay a road in Oak street, Upper Falls to apply its new dormitories with light and heat. The former grant of this petition gave the company rights to the conduit for other than public purposes and the Edison Co. have applied to the Gas and Electric Light Commissioners. Mr. O. E. Nutter explained the situation and as there was opposition, an order was subsequently adopted granting the permission for private purposes only.

Alderman Early was designated by the President to draw the largest number of jurors ever asked of the city, including 15 for the criminal session at East Cambridge, on March 31 and 4 for the civil session on April 7th. The drawing resulted in the names of J. J. Hugo, Lincoln place, Geo. A. Whall, Washington street, Newton, H. Patterson, Albemarle road, Lawrence W. Tracy, Beacon street, Edmund Hill, Geo. M. Randall, Pleasant street, Frank L. Snow, Centre street, Newton Centre, Alvah J. Steadman, Washington street, West Newton, H. Ellison, Vernon street, Arthur Rayner, Lake avenue, Hugh Murnaghan, Cook street, Patrick J. Burke, Chapel street, John H. Spellman, Crafts street, Charles R. Brown, Eden street, J. Frank Dunleavy, Central avenue and Edwin St. Drowne, Newwood road for the criminal session and Wiley S. Edmonds, Vernon street, Harold Moore, Church street, Martin O'Connor, Denn place, and James E. Sullivan, Bridge street for the civil session. Claims of Geo. R. Murnaux for over time wages as an engineer for the school department, of C. H. Spring Co. for damages automobile in collision with that of Forestry department, of Place at sewer in Beacon street, Waban, Grace E. Madden for sewer in Central street, and of the Telephone Co. attachments on Washburn avenue and Summer street were received.

The nomination of Dr. C. A. Boutwell as Inspector of Animals was submitted by Mayor Hatfield and confirmed. The nomination of the Forestry department, of Place at sewer in Beacon street, Waban, Grace E. Madden for sewer in Central street, and of the Telephone Co. attachments on Washburn avenue and Summer street were received.

The nomination of Dr. C. A. Boutwell as Inspector of Animals was submitted by Mayor Hatfield and confirmed. The nomination of the Forestry department, of Place at sewer in Beacon street, Waban, Grace E. Madden for sewer in Central street, and of the Telephone Co. attachments on Washburn avenue and Summer street were received.

The proposed amendment to the ordinance relating to the Playground Commission was the subject of a long debate, opened by Alderman Cox chairman of the committee reporting the new draft was satisfactory to the Playground Commission. That commission, formed last year, Mr. Cox claimed simply to supervise play, now desires more authority. The new ordinance will open up a new city department, and we already have too many city departments in Mr. Cox's estimation. The work of the Forestry department on the playgrounds has been entirely satisfactory and the appropriations for 1913 were based on estimates of the Forestry Commissioner, who is equipped to do all the work. The change will turn this appropriation over to an unpaid Commission. Mr. Cox believed it might work well this year as the Forestry department would probably do the work, but he thought matters would be most unsatisfactory in 1914. In his opinion, this would mean the appointment of another high salaried man to take complete charge of the department, with another organization and equipment and would mean that the Playground work would be another Technical High school in its drain on the city treasury.

Alderman Barker said that the work of the Playground Commission last year was experimental and that the majority of the committee believed that the Commission should have authority to lay out and have full charge of the playgrounds. He called attention to the fact that the actual work on the grounds must be done by a city department.

Alderman Murphy said that the change had been suggested as there was an apparent conflict in the present ordinances. Personally he could find but one conflict, that relating to permits to use the playgrounds. He endorsed Alderman Cox in the opinion of last year that the work of the Commission was to be simply supervision and disliked placing the Forestry department under the orders of an unpaid commission.

Alderman Early believed that the Forestry Commissioner should be a member of the Playground Commission.

Alderman Cox did not believe the city was in any condition to raise the money to do this playground work as the Commission planned.

In his opinion the appropriation would soon jump from $15,000 to $25,000 or $40,000. The new ordinance would also cause trouble sometime between the Playground Commission and the Forestry department. The only solution he thought, was to let the Commission establish a new department, if the tax payers would sanction the cost, although he did not believe in a new department, for he was of the opinion that some of the things of the present City Hall departments had been worn off.

Alderman Barker said there was no occasion for any friction, and Alderman Murphy closed the debate with the query that if there wasn't any friction, why was it necessary to change the ordinance. The ordinance

GOOD MUSIC

Rendered By Boy Choir of St. Paul's Church

Two exceptional musical services were given on Good Friday evening and Easter morning by the vested boy choir of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Newton Highlands, slightly augmented by extra voices and assisted by special soloists for these occasions.

The rendition of Maunder's "Olivet to Calvary" on Good Friday night by a chorus of nearly fifty voices, four special soloists and a string trio was remarkably effective throughout, the largest congregation in the history of the church being impressed with the feeling that the performance of the long and difficult Cantata was fully equal to those heard in the large city churches.

This was not only true of the solo work, Miss Miriam Bates, Miss Adele E. Nichols, Miss Alice Reese, Mr. Ralph LeRoy Harlow and Mr. Edwin F. Drowne singing their respective parts effectively, but also of the chorus work which for tone, balance and rhythm was surprisingly excellent for a volunteer organization. The difficult allegro "Crucify Him" chorus was almost perfectly done in particular. Miss Alice Reese, of the Harvard Street, Church, Brookline, was especially enjoyed in her two contralto solos, her beautifully smooth even voice showing to good effect, while Miss Adele Nichols, the regular soprano soloist of the choir added to her reputation by her excellent singing of two difficult solos, one of them a tenor aria, which she had never practiced.

On Easter another elaborate program was sung with almost professional smoothness.

By these two services the choir, whose work all season has gained it a reputation for efficiency, demonstrated indisputably that a volunteer choir of merely ordinary voices, can by hard and diligent work, if assisted by the proper solo voices, do and do satisfactorily the best in church music.

THE HOLLYHOCK—FLORAL FLIRT

Then there is the hollyhock—the worst flirt out! One never knows what to expect of it, except that it will always jauntily throw up its banner-spikes of bloom and look brightly and smilingly at you. It is a stately coquette, it is pretty and wilful. It won't grow in the place to which you carefully transplant it, and positively refuses to allow its seeds to germinate in the spot of your choice, but wantonly throws them about in the most undesirable places, and flourishes its coarse green leaves from the most impossible locations. Depend upon it! Not much! After you have carefully purchased, or saved the seeds from the most double of blossoms, and sowed them in fear and trembling, watched and protected them for a year, they will calmly open their flowers and stand there, unblinking, and look you in the eyes, frowned with single-petaled bloom! Of all the beautiful, coquettish, tantalizing flowers, the double hollyhock is queen!—From "Flower Folks" in Suburban Life for April.

was then adopted 15 to 5, Aldermen Cox, Early, Jones, Murphy, and Sullivan voting in opposition. The board adjourned at 9:02 P. M.

MRS. TEMPLE'S TELEGRAM

To Be Given By Young Women's Club of St. John's Church

On the evenings of Thursday and Friday next—April 3 and 4—the Young Women's Club of St. John's Church, Newtonville, will present the three-act farce, "Mrs. Temple's Telegram," at Players' Hall, West Newton. This marks the fourteenth annual theatricals under the direction of this well-known organization.

The production is under the patronage of many prominent Newton ladies. The proceeds will be devoted to the St. John's Parish House Fund.

"Mrs. Temple's Telegram" is a popular play with theatre-goers. Its original presentation having been made in a very successful run at the Madison Square Theatre, New York City, in 1905, with a cast including such prominent players as Grace Kimball, William Morris, Thomas A. Wise and the late Frank Worthing. It has since been produced by Boston Stock Companies. Every minute of its action is brisk and snappy. It is keenly up to date, moves swiftly, and the rib-tickling situations fall thick and fast. It is a play of a hundred-and-one good hearty, wholesome laughs.

In the St. John's production, every bit of its humor will find happy expression. The cast is an able and interesting one—with many well-known and well-liked Newton amateurs, some new local talent of great promise, and the welcoming back of old and popular local players.

Mrs. John B. Heberder, who will appear in the leading role of Mrs. Jack Temple, is one of the capable newcomers. Mrs. R. R. Gammons, 2d, Miss G. Condit and Miss Irene Atkinson complete the female characters in the play. All are players of great personal charm.

Of the male members of the cast, Mr. John W. Condit is well known for his clever past performances in St. John's theatricals, with the Newton Players and at the Toy Theatre, Boston. Mr. Roland F. Gammons, 2d, some years ago leading man in all the plays of the St. John's Club, again appears in a congenial part. Mr. J. Ellis Gammons, who always has been prominent in St. John's theatricals and, most recently, with the Players, should be screamingly amusing as Wigson, the loquacious butler. Messrs. W. H. and Derby Brown, popular in local theatricals of ten years past, are making their reappearance here, in comedy roles.

The production is being made under the acting and stage direction of Mr. Derby Brown, who, for a number of years was a member and stage director in Henry W. Savage productions. Neither expense nor effort has been spared to make it a social and entertaining success that will be well worth witnessing and remembering. Scenically it will be adequate in every respect; the players fit their roles in amazingly natural and clever manner, and the reputation of Newton young people as amateurs of note will undoubtedly be sustained most thoroughly.

"Mrs. Temple's Telegram" promises to be one of the most enjoyable of the season's list of local presentations.

Tickets may be had of any of the Patronesses, of club members, at the West Newton Savings Bank, or at the door the evening of performances. There are a limited number of reserved seats, so it is advisable to procure reservations in advance.

TEMPLARS ENTERTAIN

Gethsemane Commandery the Host At An Enjoyable Occasion

Gethsemane Commandery, Knights Templar, was the host Tuesday evening to delegations of visiting Sir Knights from Holy Sepulchre Commandery of Pawtucket and Godfrey de Bouillon Commandery of Fall River. The visitors were met at the Newtonville station and escorted to the Masonic Building by the guard of Gethsemane, where dinner was served to 200 Sir Knights.

The exercises in the asylum began at eight o'clock when the Holy Sepulchre delegation was received with full honors, under escort of a committee of Past Commanders of Gethsemane. Similar honors were tendered the visitors from Fall River. The escort of Holy Sepulchre Commandery then gave an exhibition of evolutions, its sword exercises being especially fine.

Eminent Commander William Lee Church was then told to vacate the chair and Grand Commander presented him with a pair of cuff links in honor of his birthday, and Past Commander Asa C. Jewett presented him with a basket of roses for Mrs. Church. Commander Church then presented Holy Sepulchre Commandery and Godfrey de Bouillon Commandery with pairs of goldons and then gave Adjutant Billings of his own commandery a similar gift.

The Gethsemane escort then performed a series of evolutions including the formation of the letters K and T and a sword exercise which was greeted with hearty applause.

SHOWER PARTY

Miss Dorothy Gardiner entertained the members of the S. E. K. Society at a shower party on Saturday afternoon at her residence on Lincoln street, Newton Highlands, complimentary to Miss Esther Day of Auburn-dale. It was a delightful social occasion and during the afternoon the guests were entertained at bridge, after which a chafing dish supper was served. The prize winners were Eleanor Eaton, Dorothy Gore, Mildred Dame, Florence Herrick and Esther Day.

MISCHA ELMAN COMING

The last but one of the Sunday afternoon series in Symphony Hall will be given by Mischa Elman, the great Russian violinist next Sunday afternoon, March 30th, at half past three. Elman has not been heard in Boston since early in the season when he had a most successful appearance in recital in Symphony Hall. He will be assisted this time, as last, by his accompanist, Percy Kahn, a most distinguished pianist. The final concert of the Sunday afternoon series will be given on the afternoon of April 5th. The Handel and Haydn Society, four hundred strong, will sing Haydn's oratorio, "The Creation."

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE—As a character monologist, Cliff Gordon ranks today as the utmost exponent of this type of entertainment before the American public. His impersonation of "The German Senator" has become a classic, and has served to establish Mr. Gordon in the good opinion of the amusing loving public. Almost every act on the long program is intended for laughing purposes only. Bill Macart of "The Sleeping Beauty and the Beast" fame and Ethelyn Bradford will present their latest and funniest comedy, "The Second Generation," for the first time in Boston. The Four Flancons have a unique acrobatic novelty, the scene of which is laid in a hotel in South Africa, and the players are giant gorillas who turn things topsy turvy. Wilbur Mack and Nella Walker will present their latest musical farce, while the great De-Lasse troupe of casting aerialists will supply thrills enough to make the cold chills run down one's back. Buckley's Animals is another great comedy act, and other features will be the wonderful Thomas A. Edison Talking Motion Pictures with all new subjects, Pauline Moran, the singer, and many others yet to be announced.

Toll Uses In Sales Campaigns

SUCH testimonials as the following from the J. E. SOPER COMPANY, wholesalers of grain and feed at 206 Chamber of Commerce, Boston, furnish unimpeachable testimony of the value of the telephone, especially the toll lines, in sales campaigns.

We quote a paragraph of a letter to the Company from this concern:

"We find that the telephone takes the place, in a large degree, of men on the road, and that our business is done in a much more satisfactory way by having a man sell our goods from the office, as he then knows everything a salesman should know concerning the quality, location and other features of the goods, whereas a man on the road does not always have his information and is frequently induced to guess it, which does not work at all."

We would not suggest this rule in every case. The advantages of face-to-face salesmanship and the magnetism of a personality, coupled with the importance of showing many lines of goods, are not to be depreciated. On standard lines, however, once the salesman's personality is established, the telephone is an efficient auxiliary, and especially helpful to the salesman in making advance appointment.

TRAVELING MEN interested in little stories of the advantages of the telephone as a business auxiliary, are invited to send for "Modern Methods of Money-Making." In Metropolitan Boston call the Contract Department, Fort Hill 7600. Elsewhere call the Local Manager.

THE POLITICO-SOCIAL MOVEMENT

Address On Its Aspects and Forces By Rev. Harry Lutz

That there is a politico-social movement, and that it is proceeding rapidly; there is no doubt. So also its present course is quite apparent. But just what its ultimate direction and to what precise end, is in question; and there is wide difference of opinion. Whatever line the movement is to eventually take, or wherever precisely it is at last to come, one thing is sure: it will require some hard thinking and diligent effort to develop some necessary wisdom and ability to hold and utilize the new and untried ground to be gained. It is with that we as a people are seriously concerned.

This movement is not wholly new from an historic point of view. Thus far it is simply history repeating itself. The same underlying forces are surging in it that have stirred mankind to action and change at various times in the long past. But it has taken on some aspects that are unique in our time; and, in that sense, it is a wholly new movement. Perhaps the most characteristically new feature of it is expressed by the compound name, politico-social. For, never before in history were the sociological questions as to living conditions, economics, and industry so completely involved in political action, as they are today.

Heretofore the object of government was to protect people in property rights and the pursuit of happiness. It was to define their rights and safeguard them. The manner of living, industry, and trade were left to personal initiative and the natural law of economic competition. The rise of the corporation and syndicated control of industry and trade has brought a radically changed situation in the economic world. It has resulted in an autocracy of capital, with undue advantage of special privilege. The formerly dim line of division between employers and employees rapidly widened to a yawning chasm; which threatened to engulf the common welfare.

This situation made the employee class realize itself as a class; and, looking over the widening gulf of division to the increasing luxuriousness and power of the other class, and that fast centralizing into the control of the few, it became conscious of something wrong about it. Under the old ideas of the state great economic power was given the same protected freedom as the small. But the unequal power defeated the natural law of competition, and established great capitalism in a position to squeeze out the smaller competing interests and exploit the employee class. There was left a situation in which nothing but moral kindness could save the masses of people from the oppression of economic injustice. That element of moral kindness was found wanting. It is easily accounted for by the fact that competitive business method was based on the ethical principle of war. Its aim was to win. The natural consequence was a diminishing regard for the vanquished. Or, rather, with the gain-idea paramount in the struggle, there was no corresponding development of concern for the losers. Greed for gainful advantage in the contagion of materialistic development stifled the moral sense. The autocracy of capital so far increased to dominant control over industry and trade, as to have also with it its reach the power to direct political action. Whether in fact it exercised that power, we need not positively assert; but certainly to all appearances it did so. Certain it was: syndicated capital had not shown any such moral concern for the common welfare, as to warrant leaving such vast cumulative powers to its own sweet will. Indeed, there were such flagrant abuses as to bring the pronouncement of a public judgment; that it was positively unsafe.

This situation called the civil government to an extension of its powers for the control of economic, industrial, and social conditions. These new-found political powers have extended in recent times with amazing rapidity. It has brought all phases of human life into the arena of political action, even religion. This constitutes the politico-social movement, and presents a very complicated situation.

One aspect of the movement is most conspicuous. It comes in reaction from the abuses of syndicated capital power. It is the insistence that capitalism is wholly wrong and must be abolished. It is clamorously urging the further extension of political power to the further extreme of proprietorship over all wealth and material production, which is the Socialistic ideal. That is the direction of the movement is now taking. More and more such powers are being assumed by the governments. How far it is going in that direction, none is able to say. But certainly it is the present trend of events.

One force most prominent in the movement comes in reaction from the Revolutionary overturn of monarchical forms of government and the establishment of the Republic. There has arisen a general disappointment over the workings of representative government. Whether justified or not, it has seemed to the popular mind; that representative government lent itself too readily to capitalistic advantage.

Thus the reactions against Capitalism and Republicanism are becoming associated in a grating insistence upon the further extension of democracy. It is clamorously insisting upon the extension of the people's power in government to the further extreme of popular referendum legislation; which is the Democratic ideal. That is the direction the movement is now taking. More and more such methods are being adopted by municipalities and states. Our new national administration comes in definitely committed to such extension. How far it is going in that direction, none is able to say. But certainly it is the present trend of events.

Around this general aspect of discontent with the economic situation, and about this main force of disappointment over representative government; have concentrated people's attentions. Their opinions range themselves on either side of this questioning: Is the present system of capitalism essentially wrong, and incapable of reform? Is the present system of representative government an entire failure, and incapable of improvement? According as one answers these questions, he must find himself logically ranged on one side or the other of the great division of opinion.

These two main divisions of opinion are seen to rest fundamentally: the one on belief in the results of evolutionary experience; and that they are capable of improvement for further use; the other on discontent with those results, disappointment at their abuses, and belief that they are to be supplanted by new forms and methods altogether. The latter view is now having its inning. It has captivated popular attention. Its opinion is commanding political action, and determining the direction of the politico-social movement.

Now, if one will thoughtfully project the imagination forward, say a quarter-century, and try to frame an idea of what situation this movement will have then reached: he will come to at least one conclusion:—that there is a very important psychological question involved in this whole matter which can be and ought to be, considered now. This is: are opinions springing from discontent and disappointment, and formed on the basis of reaction from abuses, assured of sound judgment as to what is or is not? Is it intellectually or morally wholesome to let the mind get closed with dogmatic certainty on one side or the other? Certainly there is imperative need of serious thought about this. The future of the movement hangs in the balance on this very pivotal point.

To all appearances the popular mind is not giving that thought. The judgment of reactionary discontent and disappointment seems to be fixed in opinion, and is restlessly forceful in the movement toward its desired goal. It is too busily intent on the moving to take much thought as to just how? and when? it arrives. But the How? and the When? there, are involved in the quality of opinions that are actuating the politico-social action now. What the actual worth of those opinions, is a question of grave importance. Whatever be the finally pronounced judgement, they are involved in a reactionary psychology and theoretic idealism; and are rapidly pushing the movement to some decided change on the face of human society.

Whatever the system of politico-social life this movement brings us to, it will then be ours. Whether we approve it or not, whether it be what it ought or not, we shall all have to live under it; and, furthermore, patriotic moral duty will demand that we make the most of it. In view of this situation, then, the practical question comes foremost: How to make it work? However contrived and intimated, it will have to be made to work, if it is to serve any good purpose.

This situation is inevitable, and it

FOR CONGRESS

Plans for a humming campaign in the 13th Congressional district were made Saturday at a meeting of the Republican District Committee at Young's.

In order that there might be no appearance of favoritism or other bias of the Republican candidates, both Mayor J. Henry Gleason of Marlboro and Ex-Representative A. L. Cutting of Weston were invited to be present. In their speeches both men spoke more along the line of the work to be done after the nomination is made than of the contest for the nomination.

The committee authorized its chairman, Ex-Councillor Seward W. Jones of Newton, to appoint four members to serve with him as a campaign committee to co-operate with the State Committee. Chairman Jones selected C. N. Hargraves of South Framingham, Charles B. Eager of Marlboro, Edward W. Baker of Brookline and B. Loring Young of Weston.

It was determined by the District Committee to wage an aggressive campaign, and arrangements will be made so that active work may be begun immediately after the primaries on April 1. The committee proposes to work largely along the lines pursued last fall.

The Democrats are getting ready for a sharp campaign in the district. Chairman Thomas P. Riley of the State Committee announces that there will be rallies each night, beginning April 2. The State chairman hopes to get speakers of national importance to come into the district.

Senator Weeks will return early next month to participate in the campaign in the 13th district. He will be here at least a week, and will put in more time in the district if the conditions demand it.

COURT EXPERIENCES

Mr. Edwin Mulready, Deputy Commissioner and Secretary of the Massachusetts Commission on Probation, gave an intensely inspiring address to the members of the Women's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Mulready has had twenty years' experience in court, and gave many interesting accounts of criminal cases which had come directly under his observation, and told of the existing conditions among the criminal classes which fill our prisons and reformatories.

The State is beginning to realize the value of investigating the history and causes which bring children to the reformatories and is endeavoring by care and proper influences to lead them in the right direction and give them an opportunity to be saved. To get at the root of the matter by persistent effort to prevent individuals from becoming criminals, would be the better course to pursue, rather than spending time and money reforming them after they have sunk to depths of degradation.

The Probation System he acknowledged as being most effective in dealing with criminals. Probation is a test of what one really is, and under this system the Judge and Probation Officers investigate the history of each individual case and the events which led to crime and deal with each accordingly.

This system is used thruout the Courts of Massachusetts.

Mr. Mulready cited several cases which had come under his notice, among which was that of the Somerville boy now serving a term for murder and told how his condition had been improved by prison life and discipline.

When he entered the prison he was wrecked from dissipation, cigarette smoking, vicious habits, and the evil influences by which he was surrounded, but by proper care and influence, regular habits and work, he had regained his health, and developed into an actual genius, showing that there was really some good in him. "Why wasn't there some one to save him?" was the speaker's pathetic appeal, "before it was too late and his life was ruined."

Even fathers and mothers are often blind to the evil inclinations of their children, until they are forcibly brought home to them.

It is impossible to estimate what proportion of erring humanity can be saved to good citizenship, just as it is impossible for a clergyman to determine what proportion of his congregation will be saved.

It is the business of every man and woman in the world to build a ladder from earth to heaven and by watchful care and good influence lead the erring ones onto the right path.

Mr. Mulready was a very forceful speaker, and the audience manifested deep interest in his subject and was aroused by the earnestness of his delivery.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Mr. H. P. Patey of Ginn & Co. gave a very interesting talk on the "Evolution of the Modern Book" before the members of the Fellowship Club at the Newton Y. M. C. A. Monday evening, March 24th.

Mr. Patey told about the beginnings of the art of printing, the manufacture of paper and the book took us through all the processes of modern book making. He told all about the electroplating process and showed us the superiority of the woodcut over all other methods of illustrating books.

Mr. Patey told about the process of making maps for school books. A beautiful illustration taken from one of Ginn and Company's books representing the Canterbury Pilgrims was shown. We were informed that eleven impressions were necessary to make this beautiful picture and that it was the finest ever used in any text book in this country.

The speaker closed with quotations from eminent men concerning the value of books and the pleasure to be had from the reading of a good book; that is, a book which is delightful to the eye and touch as well as full of good material for the mind.

Many questions were asked and the talk was much enjoyed by all who were present.

Attention is called to the Food Sale and Entertainment which is to be given on Saturday afternoon by the members of the Woman's Auxiliary. This entertainment is open to men and women and a large number are expected to be present. The house was daintily decorated with Easter flowers and plants, the dining room in yellow jonquils and daffodils, the table representing a miniature lake with swans afloat on its glassy surface being worthy of special mention.

Van Tassel and Mrs. Win. F. Plant.

CITY MEN STRIKE

Forest Commissioner Bucknam had a miniature strike on his hands this week when some 60 men in his division refused to work unless paid $2.50 per day. The trouble grew out of the fact that there is a lack of uniformity in the city departments in granting a raise of 25 cents per day to the most efficient men, as sanctioned recently by Mayor Hatfield. In the Street Dept., the raise, which was given to only 30 per cent of the men, was granted to men earning all grades of pay. The Forestry Department granted the raise to the $2.00 men only raising 14 of them to $2.25 and the strike followed because the men earning $2.25 thought they should also be increased.

Commissioner Bucknam showed the men, however, after the matter had lasted a day, that he could not grant the increase without additional appropriation from the city government and the men returned to work on Wednesday morning.

The debate Monday night on the work of the Playground Commission ought to give our leading tax payers ample ground for thought for the future expense of that department. Supervised play is unquestionably a step in the right direction, but it is an expensive step and one which should have thorough discussion before the city commits itself to ultimate large expenditures. The great danger is the sentiment that nothing is too good for the children. It has been successfully worked out in Newton in regard to school appropriations and is responsible for our present enormous burden for school expenses. The playground work is valuable, without doubt, but it is something we have managed to do without for many years, and at the present time it is in the nature of a luxury. The city government should not die this question with the greatest care or it may prove a repetition of the Arabian Nights story of the camel which first obtained permission to put its head in the small store and then proceeded to crowd in its whole body.

Members of the Republican party will be called upon next Tuesday to select a candidate for Congress, for the special election to be held on April 15th. There are two candidates, Mr.
Alfred L. Cutting of Weston and Mr.
J. Henry Gleason of Marlboro. In my opinion, Newton Republicans should support Mr. Cutting for this nomination. He is by far, the better equipped man for the position, by education, training and ability, and would adequately represent the 13th district, if his nomination was endorsed at the polls. Mr. Cutting has had ample experience in public affairs, serving for two years in the state legislature, as a selectman of Weston since 1900, besides doing a large amount of work on many public questions affecting the Metropolitan district. Vote for Cutting.

The primaries next Tuesday will be held by wards, not by precincts and will be held during the regular election hours, that is the polls will be open from 6 A. M. to 4.30 P. M.
This is the first time that regular election day hours have been used for primaries in this city and it is hoped that the change will result in a larger vote being cast than usual. Vote before going to business in the morning.

AFTERNOON TEA

Miss Beatrice Woodman entertained at a charming tea on Monday afternoon from 4 until 6 at her residence on Bellevue street.

A company of friends numbering about 40 were present, including a number of her Smith College friends.
The rooms were beautifully decorated for the occasion, in a scheme of yellow.

The table decorations were also yellow, jonquils and daisies being used in effective arrangement. The young ladies who poured were the Misses Marion Stone, Katherine Pratt, Beatrice Pierce, Ruth Blodgett, Grace Tolman, Helen Woodman. It was a very delightful social occasion and included among the guests were the Misses Katherine Pratt, Muriel Wood, Isabel Wardner, Ruth Blodgett, Mary Robbins, Augusta Patton, Helen Gane, Beatrice Pierce, Grace Tolman, Fran-

GYMNASTIC MEET

The annual gymnastic exhibition at the Newton Y. M. C. A. was held on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, and, as usual, attracted a large number of parents and interested spectators. Varied programs were given each evening, which not only showed the general work of the several classes, but included many exhibitions of great skill. On Wednesday evening there was marching, dumb bell drill, Indian club drill, basket ball relay race, and class apparatus work by the junior classes, wand drill, horizontal and parallel bar work and special work on the rings by the seniors, a demonstration by the business men's class, a dumb bell drill, work on the rings and a zig-zag relay by the employed boys and an exhibition of wrestling by Joe Bias and R. Clayton.
On Thursday evening there was maze running, dumb bell drill, obstacle race, Scottish hornpipe dance and mat work by the juniors, wand drill and fancy steps, horizontal and parallel bar work by the seniors, and a potato race.
Joe Bias and M. Patterson gave an interesting exhibition of hand balancing, which brought forth much enthusiasm. The hair raising work on the horizontal bars, including the giant swing by the senior squad was also heartily applauded.

Mayor Hatfield was present and presented the junior all-round champion cup to Francis Caverly, who made a record of 663 points out of a possible 700. The best record was made by Lecereet Woodworth, with 778, but as he had won the cup last year, he was ineligible for that of this year.

Certificates were presented to Winthrop Sullivan, 653, George Blanchard, 637, Ernest Woodworth, 587, Edward Cutler, 581, Charles Wanska, 557, William Clark, 543, Everett Leach, 541, Eaton Webber, 527, Earl Clark, 499, Hobart Sanborn, 463, and Fred Burns, 418.

The Boys' Orchestra, under the direction of S. H. Pond, gave a concert each evening before the exhibition and Mrs. H. A. Loomis was the pianist.
The exhibition was under the direction of the Physical Director, Mr. William Macpherson and his assistant, Mr.
H. A. Loomis, and the results are highly creditable to the efficient and thoro work of these gentlemen.

REAL ESTATE

Edmonds & Byrd report the signing of agreements for the sale of 8 Eldredge estate, Newton, from Geo. W.
Crosby Estate to Miss Mary Magoley who buys for a home. Property is valued at $8000.

Papers have also been signed for the sale of 197 Mt. Vernon street, West Newton, from A. Dudley Dowd to William H. Graham of Boston who buys for a home. Property valued at $11,- 000. The final papers will go on record within a few days.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—The end of the run of "Believe Me, Xanti-pene" is in sight. Next week will be its eleventh and last at the Castle Square.
It has been a run of great success and continuous surprises, and it has proved again the popularity that is lying in wait for the skillful young dramatist.
Mr. Ballard's play is a genuine comedy, filled with real characters, exciting situations and humorous dialogue, and it will at the close of its run next week, have been witnessed by considerably more than 100,000 people. Immediate application for seats is necessary, for the theatre is certain to be crowded at every performance.

The principal event of the week at Beacon Hill was the defeat of the woman's suffrage amendment in the House on Tuesday, by a vote of 140 in favor to 88 opposed, the amendment requiring a two-thirds vote in favor of all three of our representatives voted, as before, in opposition. I fear my readers may tire of my comments on this question, and as I have given editorial mention this week, I will refrain from discussing the matter further in this column. It may be interesting to state that the Senate will probably vote on this same matter next Tuesday, and as it is said will favor the amendment, it may be the subject of another vote in the House later in the session.

The Railroad Committee, of which Mr. Ellis is House Chairman, has reported the bill to give the Railroad Commission greatly increased powers, enlarging it to 5 members, with salaries of $8,000 for the chairman and $6,000 for the other members and changing its name to the Public Transportation Commission. Mr. George W.
Hishop, who is a member of the present Railroad Commission, would continue as a member of the new commission, if the bill becomes law.

Next General Court is the verdict of the Metropolitan Affairs Committee on the bill to dredge the Charles River from Waltham to the Upper Falls. This great improvement seems to be unable to make a favorable impression on the Great and General Court.

$40,000 is estimated by the Metropolitan Park Commission for the work of dredging a fifty foot channel in the Charles River from the North Beacon street bridge, Faneuil, to the Galen street bridge at Watertown. The matter is before the Ways and Means Committee.

The Public Service Committee has given leave to withdraw on the bill to place officials in charge of public works under civil service.

The House has rejected the bill mentioned last week which would require the posting of the names of voters who had failed to vote at two consecutive elections.

All three of our representatives voted against the Boynton Railroad bill on Tuesday, and it was defeated by a vote of 104 to 114.

J. C. Brimblecom.

HOLD UP

The first hold-up in this city for some time was reported to the police Monday morning by Harry J. Smith of 36 Green street, Newton, who was dazed by a blow at Pearl and Peabody streets, shortly after 10 o'clock Sunday night, and was relieved of his money, consisting of $40 in bills. Mr.
Smith was on his way home, when suddenly from behind a tree the man leaped out and gave him a hard blow on the chin, which dazed him for several minutes.

His money, which was in a wallet in his inside coat pocket, was quickly removed, and the man made off before Mr. Smith could send up cries. His watch, which he carried in his vest, was untouched. Mr. Smith described the man as being about 21 years of age, but could give the police no other clues which might lead to his identification.

NEARER OUR HOMES

When is the need of personal and property protection more evidenced than at the present time, when Tornados and Floods are devastating the country?

In the twinkling of an eye, almost without warning, the loss of many lives, the providers; vast amounts of property destroyed, that has provided shelter and income, without warning, is gone; lives and property never to be restored.

Insure and BE SURE. Insurance Restores that which has been Destroyed.

FINE SHOW

The final entertainment of the Auburndale Village Improvement Society for this season was given last Monday and Tuesday nights by The Village Dramatic Club, which presented "728," to packed houses. All the parts were admirably played, and the fluent Italian that was rattled off by Mr. Sisk, as the "ballet master," showed him to be a "master of languages" as well.
The play was directed by Mr. C. E.
Kennedy of The Boston Dramatic Bureau and great credit must be given him for being able to produce this

MR. C. E. KENNEDY

rather hard play for Amateurs in such a pleasing manner. All the rough edges being smoothed down and the comedy situations being brought out to the utmost. Special mention should be made of the acting of Miss Woodward, she carried off her part with the ease and grace of a professional. Miss Davidson, Mr. Blood and Mr. Herrick kept the interest and the laughter at the top notch. In fact everybody was excellent, and the audience claimed it was the best performance the Club has ever given in the Hall.

The cast included Miss Josephine L.
Woodward, Miss Myrtle F. Davidson, Miss Gertrude M. Bourne, Mr. and Mrs.
R. J. Sisk and Messrs H. W. Knowlton, C. W. Blood, L. S. Walling, C. B. Conn and W. F. Herrick. Mr. H. L. Blackwell was stage manager. The music was rendered by local talent, including Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hall and Messrs. G. Herbert Bourne, Ralph Keyes, Lee Tourjee Estabrook and Paul Mc Allister.

FISH-SKELTON

The wedding of Miss Annie Adeline Skelton the daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Charles B. Skelton of Walnut street and Mr. Charles E. Fish of Waltham took place Tuesday evening at the St. John's Church, Newtonville, the ceremony being performed by the rector, Rev. Richard T. Loring.

The bride was attended by Miss Celia S. Skelton as maid of honor, and the following bridesmaids, Miss Frances B. Skelton, Newtonville; Miss Catherine C. Deans, North Adams; Miss Frances Sedlmair and Miss Mary Sedlmair, Newton. Mr. Herbert P. Skelton of Newtonville was best man. The ushers were John C. Skelton of West Newton, Daniel A. Skelton of Upper Falls, William Hollis of Lower Falls, Clarence Sewall of Quincy, and Holland Gage of Waltham.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents.
Those who assisted in receiving were Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Skelton, Mrs.
Nelson Burton, and Miss Ada A. Gage, sister and aunt respectively of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Fish will be at home to their friends at 67 Washington avenue, Waltham, after June 1.

Miss Grace M. Burt, Editor.

The Endowment Fund of the General Federation, which was started during Mrs. Moore's administration, is slowly growing and at the Council Meeting in Washington in April it is hoped that the fund will receive increased impetus. It will be remembered that at the outset certain sums were apportioned the various State Federations. Massachusetts' share was made $10,000, the same as that of New York, these being the largest Federations. The figures as reported in the March Federation Magazine show that five states, Virginia, Texas, Florida, Missouri and Nevada, have completed their full apportionment. Massachusetts stands fourth in the list of those which have not secured their full quota, having raised $5,249.55 or 52 1/2 per cent of the $10,000. This is the largest amount of money obtained by any state, but we should not be satisfied until the whole is in hand. This fund, as has already been announced, has been made a memorial to Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker and on that account it should reach an early completion. A writer in the Federation Magazine this month suggests a novel method for securing its completion. She says: "The only requisite to this raising a million-dollar endowment fund is exercise of the ages-old woman's privilege of self-denial, and the display of a ridiculous small amount of personal independence." She then goes on to suggest that if 400,000 of the 800,000 women comprising the General Federation, who would naturally expect a new spring hat, should forego that pleasure and contribute the average cost, $4.00, $1,600,000 would be easily secured! This may not be feasible, yet it does point out how small a sum from each woman is required to make this much needed fund a reality.

Local Announcements

On March 31 the Monday Club of Newton Highlands will hold a luncheon at the home of Mrs. W. E. Bowen of 11 Chester street at one o'clock. The club colors, yellow and white, will be carried out in the table decorations. In the afternoon following the luncheon Mrs. Eleanor H. Porter will give readings.

The C. L. S. C. of Newton Highlands will hold its Special Day on Monday at the home of Miss Marion Morse. There will be a varied program, the principal feature being an informal travel talk by Mrs. Fred R. Miller. The members are requested to come promptly at two o'clock.

At the meeting of the Newtonville Woman's Guild on Tuesday afternoon, Miss Marion A. Downes will appear in "Little Stories of North Africa," and Mrs. Anna L. Bailey will talk on the work of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

The Social Science Club will hold its regular monthly business meeting on Wednesday morning at the Hunnewell Club.

On Wednesday evening, April 2nd, the Pierian Club will observe "Gentlemen's Night" at the home of Mrs. Mills.

The Waban Woman's Club was pleasantly entertained on Monday with "Songs and Lyrics of Ireland." Mrs. Jessie Waterhouse gave a talk on the Irish drama, poetry and literature, speaking of the great interest recently aroused by the Irish Players in everything pertaining to Ireland. She said that the literature did not attain national importance until the sixteenth century, that their stories were really traditions and very spontaneous and mentioned the shamrock as illustrating the Trinity. She spoke of Oliver Goldsmith's great work, "The Deserted Village," of Sheridan's famous play, "The Stoops to Conquer," of Thomas Moore's well known song, "The Last Rose of Summer," of Samuel Lover, a lyric writer, a novelist and an artist, of John Boyle O'Reilly, a great lover of nature and at one time editor of the Pilot, a newspaper in Boston, and of William B. Yeates, some of whose plays have been recently given by the Irish Players. Her talk was interspersed with several illustrative songs well rendered by Mrs. Helen Tewksbury with Mrs. Shumway at the piano. A delightful tea then ended the afternoon's entertainment.

On Monday afternoon, March 23rd, the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. continued the study of Browning's "Paracelsus" under the direction of Miss Webster. The second and third acts were read, the different members taking the parts, after which there was explanation and discussion. This work was compared in many respects to that of Shelley.

The Newton Highlands Monday Club met at the home of Mrs. E. P. Bosson last Monday to witness an electric demonstration by Mrs. Peterson of the Edison Electric Light Company. The various toasters and small stoves were used in preparing a delicious luncheon for all the club members. Creamed chicken and mushrooms on toast were prepared with the toasters and chafing dish. Coffee was served from the electric percolator. The electric vacuum cleaner was also exhibited. After luncheon two recitations, "Mother's Fool" and "Larry O'Dec" were given by Miss Flora Bosson.

On Tuesday morning, March 25, the Auburndale Review Club met at the home of Mrs. S. W. Dike. "The Tale of Two Cities" was presented and a paper on "The Imagination of Dickens" was read by Mrs. Fuller. Those taking part in the play were: Mrs. Fuller, Mrs. Freeman, Mrs. Wells, Mrs. Frost, Mrs. Sadler, Mrs. May Sleeper, Ruggles sang a French song.

At the meeting of the Social Science Club on March 19, Mrs. Egbert Chamberlin of New York spoke of the work of the Housewives' League. The conditions which she described applied for the most part to New York City and many of them were appalling. And these exist in the best parts of the city as well as in the poorer localities, for a great many of the better class of people live in a hand to mouth way, purchasing much cooked food from the delicatessen shops. She also described some of the false measures and faulty scales used by dealers and urged the women to insist upon buying vegetables and fruits by weight instead of by measure.

On Wednesday morning of this week the Club considered the sets of questions sent out by the departments of the State Federation and found the morning a very profitable and interesting one.

The Pierian Club met with Mrs. Temperley on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Billings presented a paper upon "Irish Legends and Stories."

Mrs. Everett Starr Jones gave an account of her recent trip in Italy before the West Newton Women's Educational Club in Players' Small Hall this afternoon.

The Travel Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club met on Thursday, March 20, with Miss Lillian Riddick of Webster Park, West Newton. The afternoon was devoted to the reading and discussion of two papers, one by Mrs. Geo. D. Byfield on the "Civilization of the Incas" and the other by Mrs. C. E. Quinn on Peru. These papers represented considerable research, and gave to the class a fair idea of a wonderful civilization, that existed centuries ago, and of the causes which led up to the discovery of a new continent and the Spanish Conquest of Peru. A social hour followed.

The Home Circle will hold their annual meeting in G. A. R. Hall, Newtonville, on Thursday, April 3d, at 2 P. M. Reports from chairmen of standing committees, secretary and treasurer's reports will be given. Election of officers. Tea will be served. It is hoped this meeting will be well attended.

Mrs. C. A. Drake will give a Home Circle whist at her home, 497 Auburn street, Auburndale, on Thursday, April 10, at 2.30 P. M. sharp.

BALL POSTPONED

The military ball which had been planned for Wednesday evening of this week by Company C, Fifth Regiment, was indefinitely postponed on Tuesday by orders of the committee in charge on account of the lack of patronage. The committee had made arrangements for an elaborate occasion and the failure of the residents of Newton to give their support is quite disappointing.

W. C. T. U.

The next meeting of the Newton Woman's Christian Temperance Union will be held at the home of Mrs. E. Drown, 32 Lakewood road, Newton Highlands, April 3, at 2.30 o'clock. Mr. F. W. Chase will be the speaker.

Pupils of the Liederkreis School of Vocal Music, of which Mrs. May Sleeper Ruggles is principal, gave a brilliant and largely attended musicale on Wednesday evening at the parish house of the Centenary Methodist Church, Auburndale.

There were six numbers on the program which comprised works by the well-known composers, Balfe, Mendelssohn, Gilbert, A. von Ahn Carse, Gelbel, Mack, and Harris, and each number was well received, reflecting credit on both teacher and pupils. Included in the program was a duet by the Misses Dexter and Pentecost; a group of songs by Miss Marian E. Watson; vocal selection by Mrs. Alice V. Champion; part song by the Boys' Glee Club and a group of songs by Miss Helen F. Hill.

The pupils were assisted by the Auburndale Orchestra, of which Mrs. W. J. Scholer is conductor, and Ruth Lincoln Woodbury, the Liederkreis, accompanist.

WHAT IS GOOD CHURCH MUSIC?

Extract from Recent Address by William A. Spaulding, Assistant Professor of Music in Harvard University.

There is at present a great deal of discussion as to the nature and function of church music, and a great deal of discontent, both on the part of ministers and of the churchgoing public, with the style of music found in most of the churches of the country. The criticism, however, so far, has been chiefly destructive and little change for the better is likely to take place until there is a more intelligent consensus as to what church music really is and what its place should be in connection with worship.

Just what is good church music? In this matter there is an abundance of confused and reckless opinions. While it is true that all music which is a vital and sincere expression of the imagination and shows good workmanship is great music and hence sacred, none the less much of it when introduced into our churches is a right thing in the wrong place. Certainly church music which is and which sounds just like the music of every day is condemned by one of the worst indictments which can be brought against any form of art, namely, that of incongruity.

Far too much modern so-called church music is based entirely on dance rhythms, and the whole harmonic basis and structure is that which we associate with hunting songs, with barcaroles, serenades, waltzes, lullabies or even drinking songs. How much music can be expected to stimulate the worshiper to ideal considerations of human existence and the real meaning of the mysteries of this and of the other world if it is difficult to understand. The object of secular music is to excite. The object of sacred music should be to elevate. The best church music in the world was written for and has been rendered by men's voices, and consequently the mixed quartet is coming to be less and less in favor.

In these days of fierce discussion as to the alleged failure of the churches to hold the real meaning of the mystery of this and of the other world, I myself am convinced that any church which institutes a really noble type of church music—and there is a large amount of it in existence, both that of the great Italian masters of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries and of the Protestant German composers—will be availing itself of a most vital form of appeal to the higher sensibilities of congregations and of worshippers who far too often at present are seen to be in a state of lethargy or open hostility.

NEWTON REAL ESTATE

John T. Burns and Sons, Inc. report the sale of 12 room stucco frame residence formerly known as Mundy Estate and situated at 63 Page Road, Newtonville. With the house are 10,400 sq. feet of land, whole property being valued at $16,000. Mr. P. J. Evans was the grantor and Mr. William D. Nugent of Philadelphia the purchaser.

An important sale at Newton Centre has just been completed through the office of John T. Burns and Sons, Inc. whereby Mr. A. A. Packard of Brookline takes possession of 135 Warren street, Newton Centre consisting of a 15 room residence with 3 baths, stable and over half an acre of land. Mrs. H. T. Swanton was grantor. Said estate valued at $16,000. Mr. Packard will occupy the premises.

Mr. J. F. Currier has completed the sale through the office of John T. Burns and Sons, Inc. of his new house and garage situated on Adella avenue, West Newton. The property conveyed comprises new 10 room residence, garage and 16,000 feet of land, not yet assessed, but valued at $8,000. Mr. W. W. Smith purchases for a home.

Agreements are signed through the office of John T. Burns and Sons, Inc. for sale of 69 Lowell avenue, Newtonville consisting of 9 room house and 7450 sq. feet of land to C. H. Lorimer who buys for a residence. Said property is taxed for $5,000.

The single frame house and 5,000 feet of land situated at 9 Chesley avenue, Newtonville has been sold by H. E. Kingsbury Estate to L. S. Coombs who buys for investment. After extensive improvements are made the house will be rented to a party from Worcester. Said estate is valued at $4,800. John T. Burns and Sons, Inc. were brokers in all the above transactions.

N. H. S.

An interesting exhibition of gymnastic work was given at the High School Gym last Saturday evening by the Harvard, Brookline and Newton High teams, consisting of work on the parallel and horizontal bars, rings and tumbling. There was a good attendance.

ASPECTS AND FORCES OF THE POLITICO-SOCIAL MOVEMENT

points an unmistakable duty. What about it? It is no longer a question of theory, but of efficiency. Who, of the people, in this exigency will the situation turn for the necessary ability? Who are able for these things? Let our thought scan the body of people, and what class is found to have the practical ability for this task? Whom does the attention light upon, but the people of business affairs?

Are they taking part in the movement? No, not to any appreciable effect. They are under discredit at the present time. The popular thought is turned against them, and they are laid back in discouragement. Whatever their own misdoings in the past may have contributed to make it so, this is apparently the fact. On the whole, popular opinion is being made by reactionary class conscious interest, and the politico-social movement is being actuated by theoretic idealism. People of business affairs are not being consulted, nor will they be listened to. Their discouragement is not to be wondered at; but are they to lay back and do nothing about it?

Now we are at the point this consideration is aimed,—the duty of business people in the matter. Opinions as to the merit or demerit of aspects and forces of the movement are not here in question. We are going to take what comes, whether we like it or not. Whatever civic form be the outcome, it will have to be operated efficiently; or it will fail. If it fails, then what? Must we pass through confusion, anarchy, a "Reign of Terror," to a Napoleonic dictatorship; and history once more repeat itself? Who holds the power that will answer? Are we not now ready to point them out? Are not they the people of affairs? Who else are able for this? Class conscious opinion however justifiable, Democracy however righteous, theoretic idealism however noble, can never get on without practical operative ability. It is a warrantable property, certainly, to say: the time is coming when this movement will reach a state of confusion; out of which will arise the call for that ability. To whom will it call, but to those who have developed that capability in practical business affairs?

Will they wait for that call? No, not if they are wise to the situation. They need to get religion on that subject now. Now is the accepted hour! They need to begin now to study and organize their wisdom and efficiency against that day. There is no greater need of our time; and there is no greater service than to help on this awakening. They are not listened to now by the public, but they will be sooner or later; provided, they heed the call of the present duty; to develop sound wisdom and efficient capability into some organized consensus of judgment, that will command respect for education of public opinion. Then will they be heard, and then will they be called into the public service.

Now, what are the elements of such a body of efficient wisdom? Practical ability, certainly. But never again the cut-throat business of the competitive war-method in business. We have a public conscience which will not stand for that. It will have to be cooperative in method, and it will have to be right in principle; if it is to stand in the times before us. It must be based on a higher idea than has heretofore prevailed in popular thought: that civil government is an expression of a people's life, not just their commerce; that political action is a method of improved living, not just prosperity. So also its administration is not a matter of voting political favoritism, or popular distribution of power; but for wise selection of honest capability, and localized constitution of authority. We must get by the notion that office of government is a privilege to be candidated for and conferred; and come to the idea that it is a responsible business to be operated, for which the competent are to be sought and called. Whoever votes it, or how; it must be both right and efficient.

Another point to observe in this idea is, as to where to place the emphasis of importance. The fundamental principle, that government is right and efficient management of a people's life, will never get soundly established so long as the pre-eminent emphasis of importance is on the material means of living; as it now appears to be. The contention now is for people's rights; and those rights are generally regarded in terms of means, rather than living. The success of battling for rights is caused by the getting of means, rather than the prospect of life. It is a serious question as to what is happening to the ideals of our youth with the force of psychological suggestiveness bearing its emphasis on the getting of means, rather than on living the life.

In the very nature of the case, then, to advance this idea of government and establish it with sound efficiency; we must somehow go forward, not back, and place the emphasis of importance where it everlastingly belongs: upon the life. Not on the means, which are here in possession today and left behind tomorrow; but on the life, that is here today and will be wherever we are hereafter. We need take to heart the favorite poem of our new President,—Wordsworth's "CHARACTER OF THE HAPPY WARRIOR," where the emphasis is not on what the warrior is to win; but on the character.

The quality of being, not the battle the victory or the winnings, is his happiness. The wish to be that must command the formative ideas and active forces of our collective life, if the politico-social movement is to ever arrive at happy issue.

In this, the supreme task of our time, all have part. The best can never be with any left out; to wander after the chimerical delusion of vainglorious victory-provess, or in rainbow pursuit of happiness with a pot of gold. All are needed for this task: of diminishing the fighter-ideal and enlarging the character ideal, of advancing the emphasis of importance from means-holding to worthwhile being, and of augmenting the suggestive force of higher valuation upon human personality and the agencies for its improvement.

Let our schools produce, not mere fight-winners and money makers, but capable honest rational-mindedness; that sets far above vocational means-getting the ideal of manhood and womanhood in the high-light of its becoming possibilities. Let our churches give the pre-eminent force of religion, to touch spirits to vaster issues; that, through worshipful respect for the eternal verities of being, prayerful desire to their place in the higher life, and noble endeavor toward their Most High goal, it shall then come to pass: in the fullness of becoming life, the politico-social movement will take to itself the power for advance to happy issues, and arrive at something of "An eternal excellency, And a joy of many generations."
